Big Four Conference Is Urged

• Tito Requests Meeting With Big 3 Envoys

Conference Lasts Half-Hour But No Explanation Given

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 18 (AP)—President Tito called in the diplomatic envoys of the Big Three Western Powers today for an unusual Sunday conference to discuss conclusions reached on explosive Trieste by the London foreign ministers' conference.

There was no immediate information on what Tito told the diplomats about Yugoslavia's reaction to the London talks, at which the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, and France decided to "persevere in their joint efforts to bring about a lasting settlement" in the Trieste area.

Confers Half Hour

Tito conferred for about a half hour with the envoys—British and French Ambassadors Sir William Ivor Mallet and Philippe Boudet and American Charge d'Affaires Woodruff Wallner.

Earlier today the three Western diplomats held an unscheduled conference with Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Bebler to discuss the Trieste problem. There was no official disclosure on these talks, which followed by only a few hours a broadcast by the official Belgrade radio quoting Tito as saying Yugoslavia stands by its decision to send armed forces into Trieste's Zone A if Italy moves in occupying forces.

An American spokesman said the talks by the U. S., British, and French envoys with Bebler was "a follow-up" to conversations yesterday between British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the Yugoslav and Italian ambassadors in London over the British-American decision of Oct. 8 to hand over their zone of Trieste to Italy.

Tension Builds Up

Tension built up to a new peak during the weekend over Trieste, which was Italian before World War II and which both Yugoslavia and Italy are hotly demanding.

Early today dispatches from Udine, Italy—north of Trieste near the Yugoslav border—said three crack Italian divisions in that area had been ordered on a state of emergency. One high-ranking Italian officer said the troops were alerted to "counterbalance" recent Yugoslav reinforcements in the border sector.

The Belgrade radio broadcast of Marshal Tito's latest views on Trieste were based on an interview the Yugoslav President gave to a correspondent for the London Sunday Observer. The broadcast and Borba, official newspaper of Tito's Communist party, both quoted him as saying:

"I wish to say firmly our troops will not fight against Anglo-American troops."

French Troops Deepen Offense

HANOI, Indochina, Oct. 18 (AP)—French Vietnamese troops today deepened their offensive into long-held Vietminh territory, advancing at one point to within 12 miles of the big rebel warbase of Thanh Hoa.

Troops landed from French warcraft in the Gulf of Tonkin, 25 miles south of Thanh Hoa, pushed up along Colonial Route No. 1, often called Mandarin Road, a distance of 13 miles, without running into any serious resistance.

Meeting Postponed

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 18 (AP)—A British-Egyptian meeting scheduled for tomorrow on the Suez Canal dispute has been postponed until Wednesday.

Israel Prepares Answer To U.N. In Arab Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP) — Israel's delegation to the U. N. conferred in a long emergency session tonight on its answer in the U. N. to Western Big Three demands for Security Council action to halt Arab-Israel border bloodshed.

The Council will hold an urgent session Monday morning on the question.

Abba Eban, Israeli ambassador to the United States and delegation head, conferred late today with William Borberg, Danish president of the Security Council for October.

He said in a statement afterward that they had gone over general problems.

There was no indication, however, that Eban was ready to ask the Council to make Israel's complaints about her Arab neighbors a separate item on the Council agenda. The Israel Cabinet in Jerusalem had indicated such a step.

Britain, France and the United States called yesterday for the urgent meeting to go into the tensions between Israel and her Arab neighbors and to look into violations of the 1949 armistice.

The Western Big Three action, decided on by the Big Three foreign ministers in London, was spurred by Israeli destruction of the Jordan border village of Kibya last Wednesday. Jordan official sources said 66 were killed and nine wounded. The Israelis said it was in reprisal for the killing of a Jewish woman and her two children last Tuesday.

In answer to Big Three castigation of the Israeli act and a State Department statement about it tonight, the delegation issued a sharply worded retort that it hoped the big powers "would show the same compunction about Israeli dead."

The Israeli note, which will be the basis of Israel's arguments when and if it speaks in the Security Council, recited that since 1950—when the Big Three guaranteed Middle East borders — there have been 421 Israeli killed and wounded by Arab marauders, 128 acts of sabotage, 866 armed attacks, and 3,263 robberies.

The note said that in July, 1953 Israel sent notes to the Big Three —the text was never made public — complaining that the maruading has increased since the first of this year, but that the powers had not reacted. The note said Israel reserved the right to make a full accounting to the U. N.

Foreign Aid Spending Goes To $7 Billion

Military Assistance High; Europe Nations Receive Most Amount

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—A big jump in military assistance to the free world pushed U. S. foreign aid — including loans and grants—to a record seven billion dollars in the 12 months ended last June 30.

The Commerce Department, reporting this today, said nations getting help made return grants to the United States, or loan repayments, amounting to about 10 per cent of the United States' aid.

France, England Get Most

France and Great Britain continue to head the foreign aid list, getting over half of the help given to Western European countries, which received 74 per cent of the total. France and the United Kingdom also made the biggest returns.

Other nations receiving outstanding aid totals were Greece, Italy, Yugoslavia and Korea. Japan returned 15 million dollars more than she received.

The Commerce Department report disclosed that Congress has authorized foreign aid outlays which would keep the program going to the end of 1955 at the record rate of the past year.

As the effort to build military strength against the Communist menace reached high gear last year, there was a dramatic reversal in the roles of military and economic foreign aid.

In the fiscal year 1952, from July 1, 1951 to June 30, 1952, economic aid of all kinds amounted to 63 per cent of the total, while military aid came to 37 per cent. But in fiscal 1953, which ended last June 30, these proporations were exactly switched—63 per cent was military and 37 per cent economic.

Foreign Aid Goes Up

Foreign aid in fiscal 1953 was nearly 40 per cent bigger than the year before — $7,030,000,000 compared with $5,098,000,000. About 746 million dollars of fiscal 1953 aid—or somewhat over 10 per cent —was in the form of loans by the Export-Import Bank and the Mutual Security Agency.

Returns, loan repayments or reverse help like land for American civil or military projects, or services to U. S. armed forces, came to 694 million dollars in fiscal 1953. Thus, net foreign aid in the 12 months was $6,336,000,000.

Special Agents Spy In Plants

BERLIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Russian zone has mobilized a new army of special police agents to spy on disgruntled East German workers in every major plant from the Elbe to the Oder, refugees say.

The SSD (security police) has been enlarged by thousands to handle the new assignment, a direct outgrowth of the continued sullen resentment the workers have shown ever since the June riots.

Border crossers said the system was installed first in the East Berlin state-owned factories, shops and mills, and now has been extended throughout the Soviet zone.

Allied sources who interrogated Germans who came west said today the vast spy network appears to overshadow all previous policing methods attempted by the Communist regime in its constant fear of public uprisings. Each plant now has its special agent, listed on the books as an expert on personnel questions.

The agents have a dual job: checking tirelessly for culprits in the June 17 riots and investigating immediately when work slowdowns become evident in failure to reach production quotas.

British Troops Leaving Trieste

TRIESTE, Oct. 18 (AP) — The first contingent of British dependents pulled out of Trieste today as the business of British-American troop withdrawal proceeded. A 13-car special train left Central Station while British soldiers waved goodbye to 260 wives and children.

Another train is expected to depart Thursday and then one every 10 days until all 400 British families have gone. Seven hundred American families were expected to be gone by the first week in November. No target date has been announced for departure of the 7,000 soldiers.

Violence Puts Commies Near Patience End

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Oct. 19 (AP) — The Communists refused to make substitute explanations to anti-Red Chinese prisoners of war today after being told that North Korean POWs could not be brought before Red persuaders without a fight.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission canceled today's explanations to POWs before the violence-threatened sessions were to begin.

It told the Reds: "It has not been possible to persuade the Korean prisoners to come for explanations."

Insist On Koreans

The commission said the Communists insisted on talking to North Korean POWs and wouldn't accept the commission's repeated statement that it was impossible to get the North Koreans to listen.

North Koreans flatly refused to meet with the Communist explainers last Friday. The commission called off the Friday explanation session after the North Korean POWs ignored an ultimatum to leave their stockades and remained steadfast in their tents despite a show of force by troops of the Indian custodian command.

The Communists indicated they were nearing the end of their patience by declaring in a Peiping radio broadcast that they had been unable to carry out their task of explaining repatriation rights.

Lodge Strong Protest

Another Red broadcast said the Korean-Chinese side "has lodged the strongest protest with the American side" at the Military Armistice Commission, the ruling truce body" against what was termed "unlawful American sabotage."

The Reds demanded that the 90-day explanation period to 22,400 Korean and Chinese anti-Communist prisoners should be extended beyond the Dec. 24 deadline and be counted on the basis of the actual time consumed during explanation sessions.

Already the Communist timetable for interviewing 1,000 prisoners daily was running far behind schedule.

Communist propaganda outlets Sunday and early today bitterly complained that the two previous "explanation" sessions to a total of 950 Chinese had been obstructed by American-instigated agents. Less than two per cent of the interviewed prisoners—19 in all—have chosen to return home.

No interviews took place Sunday. The respite was ordered by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC).

Red interviewers drew a frustrating blank Friday when North Korean anti-Reds threatened a mass breakout attempt if Indian custodial troops forced them to leave their compounds. The Indian Command backed down and postponed the explanations to avoid bloodshed.

Tempers flared Saturday when representatives of the (NNRC) permitted Red "explainers" to harangue one Chinese prisoner for three hours in an effort to make him say he wanted to return to communism.

Dazed by the ordeal, the prisoner was unable to give coherent answers to questions. He was segregated by the repatriation commission instead of being returned to his fellow anti-Communist prisoners.

President Prays At Small Town Mission Church

MISSION, Tex., Oct. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower worshipped today in a small-town Presbyterian church whose pastor later said the main thing on his mind was "what God would have me say to a man with such burdens."

The sum of the Rev. Ernest F. Deutsch's first sermon to a President was that the affairs of spirit and state can be reconciled so that there is never a conflict—that God wants it that way.

Farouk's Adviser Gets Life Term

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 19 (AP)—Egypt's Revolutionary Court sentenced Karim Tabet, ex-King Farouk's press adviser, to life imprisonment today for high treason.

He was accused of conspiring with a foreign power, which was not publicly named, to undermine the Egyptian state and of abusing his power in office. The prosecutor declared Tabet was to a great extent responsible for Farouk's "extravagances" and encouraged the pudgy King in excesses.

The court ordered confiscation of Tabet's fortune and that of his wife—estimated at 144,000 pounds ($414,720), most of it amassed after 1946. The prosecution had called for the death penalty. Tabet pleaded innocent.

Brownell Says He's Shocked At Teacher Pay

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 18 (AP) —Atty. Gen. Brownell said today he was shocked by some recent statistics on school teachers' salaries in some parts of the country. He said messengers in the Justice Department are paid more in many instances.

"No wonder," he said, "that the teaching profession does not have the full attraction for the youth who might otherwise adopt it as a lifetime career."

The attorney general discussed the importance of the school in the prevention of juvenile delinquency in an address prepared for the dedication of a new campus at New Haven State Teachers College.

His brother. Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, president of the college since 1947, was named by President Eisenhower last week as the U. S. commissioner of education.

Asserting that the juvenile delinquency problem rests jointly on the home, the school and the church, Brownell said:

"I hope in time that teachers' salaries will increasingly be commensurate with their performance for good."

Brownell stated a flat belief that no child should be put in a jail. Asserting that many local jail facilities are wholly inadequate, he said the Federal Bureau of Prisons, which functions under him, maintains a continuing inspection of local jails to determine which are fit to be used for temporary detention of federal offenders.

News Oddities:

Wife Bags Deer In Yard, Hubby Returns Empty-Handed From Hunt

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—It was all a matter of timing for many people last week.

Hunting, where timing really counts, led to some strange incidents as the open season on hunters began in some sections of the country.

In Hampton, S. C., a fellow went deer hunting and ordered his wife to plan to cook a venison dinner. Hours later he crept home empty-handed. But there was venison in the oven. Seems a tired deer staggered into the back yard and the Mrs. slugged it over the head with a piece of kindling.

In Squaw Creek Canyon, Calif., a woman approached a hunter in the woods and said her husband was trying to hunt bear but couldn't find any. The hunter looked up, fired, and a 250-pound black bear dropped at their feet.

But near St. Charles, Mo., the animal kingdom struck back when a playful buck laid siege to a farm home. He butted the farmer, sharpened his antlers on a car and tried to force his way into the house. Failing to get in, he stood on his hind legs and stared through the windows. When last heard from, he was hanging around chasing anybody who ventured outside.

Steeplechase riding is all a matter of timing, too, as a jockey discovered at Southwell race track in England. He left the starting gate aboard a 20 to 1 shot, was thrown high into the air at a fence and landed on the back of the even money favorite, a game horse that was struggling to its feet after spilling its rider. Jockey and even money favorite made it to the finish—at a walk.

Lee Appointment To FCC Meeting Demo Opposition

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Some Democratic senators are preparing to question President Eisenhower's appointment of Robert E. Lee, friend of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), as a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Lee, a Washington, D. C., Republican who has been serving as director of surveys and investigations for the House Appropriations Committee, recently was named by Eisenhower to replace FCC Chairman Paul Walker, an Oklahoma Democrat.

The appointment gives Republicans 4-3 control of the commission but Democrats who may oppose Lee's confirmation say they have no objection on that score. Instead, they apparently intend to question his connection with the 1950 Maryland senatorial campaign.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), former chairman of the elections subcommittee which criticized that campaign as a "despicable, back street type," said in an interview that he thinks Lee's part in it would bear further looking into.

Atty. Gen. Brownell announced Friday the Justice Department had found no evidence of federal fraud or election law violations by McCarthy in the Maryland campaign or in the handling of his finances subsequently investigated by another elections subcommittee.

McCarthy backed Sen. John Marshal Butler, Republican, who defeated Democratic Sen. Millard Tydings.

Monroney protested that Brownell thus was "giving a clean bill to all the ugly features of one of the dirtiest political campaigns in recent history." Monroney mentioned Lee as being involved in the handling of contributions which the subcommittee said never were reported to the appropriate authorities in Maryland.

Leyte Inquiry To Open Today

BOSTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — A Navy court of inquiry headed by Rear Adm. Delbert S. Cornwell arrived tonight to open an investigation into Friday's searing explosion aboard the aircraft carrier Leyte, which cost 36 lives.

No deaths occurred during the day among the 30 injured, most of them Navy personnel. Four were listed as in serious condition from burns.

West Powers Invite Russia To Meeting

New Korean Peace Plan Is Advocated; Germany On Agenda

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Western Big Three today sent notes to Russia inviting her to participate in a Big Four foreign ministers conference Nov. 9 to deal with the unification of Germany, an independence treaty for Austria and organization of European security.

The notes were issued at the conclusion of a three-day meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France which dealt with means of approaching Russia and possible solutions for the troubled issues of Korea, Trieste and Palestine.

The ministers invited Italy and Yugoslavia to a five-nation meeting aimed at averting open hostilities over the Free Territory of Trieste.

Agree On Peace Plan

A diplomatic informant said the ministers also secretly agreed on a new plan for a Korean peace conference to get around the present deadlock over what nations should be represented. This source said the ministers proposed that seven countries be represented: the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Communist China, North Korea and South Korea.

There was no official confirmation of the report.

The three-day conference was attended by U. S. secretary of state John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

The notes to Russia proposed that the conference on Germany and Austria take place at Lugano, Switzerland. The reference to organizing European security at this meeting presumably meant Russia would be offered a non-aggression pact.

The ministers' communique said the three Western nations agreed to stick to the Oct. 8 decision on Trieste under which Britain and the United States agreed to withdraw occupying forces from Trieste's Zone A and turn it over to Italian administration.

Dulles "Very Happy"

Dulles left by plane for Washington, saying he was "very happy about the conference as a whole." Bidault emplaned for Paris, appearing unenthusiastic about results of the talks.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that British Prime Minister Churchill had sounded out Dulles and Bidault on the idea of his going alone to Moscow to meet Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov. Churchill's aim, it was understood, would be to set up a later conference to include Malenkov, U. S. President Eisenhower, French Premier Joseph Laniel, and himself.

In a communique at the close of their meeting, the three foreign ministers:

1. Called urgently for a meeting of the United Nations Security Council to consider Israeli-Arab tensions, especially the recent border incident in which Israel was accused of attacking three Jordan villages and causing a heavy loss of life.

2. Reaffirmed their declaration of May 25, 1950, guaranteeing peace in the Middle East.

3. Reviewed the Korean and Indochinese situations.

Abandon Hope For Plane Crew

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Oct. 18 (AP) —All hope for nine men of a U. S. Navy plane, which ditched today in the frigid swells of the North Atlantic off Iceland, was abandoned tonight.

A sea search was called off after the plane's rubber dinghy was found empty.

A fierce gale was blowing in the area southwest of Iceland where the dinghy was seen by a searching plane. Four American rescue planes from Keflavik Airfield, as well as several ships, took part in the search.

The plane radioed, 48 minutes after taking off from Keflafik Airport here, that it was down with engine trouble south of the Vestmanna Islands, off the Iceland coast. Four rescue planes and three boats immediately started a search. Officials here said the ocean probably was too rough to permit the downed airmen to use their rescue dinghy.

Economy Takes Dip Down As Government Keeps Watch

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The economy has turned down a little from its towering peak of last spring and the Eisenhower administration has put its "economic climate" theory at work to keep the dip from becoming a plunge.

Abruptly, the administration has switched from the emphasis it formerly put on balancing the budget next year to foreshadowing possibly continued red ink spending.

Quietly, the Federal Reserve System has eased the tight grip it had on the money supply last spring, making money easier to get, tilting interest rates downward, lowering the cost of doing business.

There were indications last week that business may already be perking up in the more cheerful climate.

If that is the case it will reverse a downturn which, though slight, had caught the attention of economists. The President's council of Economic Advisers published a report 10 days ago that the economy dipped from a 372½ billion dollar pace in the second quarter of the year to a 371 billion dollar rate in the third quarter. A main factor, the report said, was a drop in government spending. The small downturn, however, left the economy still 7 per cent ahead of the third quarter last year.

Among other government remedies, the new administration has relaxed, for the time being at least, its "hard dollar" program.

The Treasury has been borrowing in past months on short term securities, the kind Eisenhower economic theorists call inflationary. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and his deputy for debt management, W. Randolph Burgess, have repeatedly assured investors they will go easy with their program of long term, anti-inflationary borrowing.

Officials Believe Russia Will Veto Big Three Note

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — State Department officials seriously doubt that Russia will accept the proposal made by the Western Powers today for a conference opening in just three weeks on unifying Germany and completing an Austrian peace treaty.

While no one professes to know the mind of the Kremlin, the betting here is that the Soviets do not want to negotiate on Germany at this time and that they will not change their position against conferring on an Austrian independence treaty just now. There are several possible explanations suggested by officials here:

1. Premier Malenkov and Foreign Minister Molotov were frightened by the show of weakness of the East German Communist bosses at the time of the June 17 riots and in subsequent critical days. They may have concluded then that they could not depend on German Communist forces—as distinguished from Soviet military forces — to safeguard their interests in Germany.

2. The West German election triumph of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on Sept. 6 demonstrated a power and appeal of Western policies toward Germany which contrasted dramatically with the earlier weakness in East Germany.

3. The Soviet government may be bothered by various internal and satellite problems such as reorganization of the government and governmental policies following Stalin's death last spring.

Another train is expected to depart Thursday and then one every 10 days until all 400 British families have gone. Seven hundred American families were expected to be gone by the first week in November. No target date has been announced for departure of the 7,000 soldiers.

Officials Believe Russia Will Veto Big Three Note

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — State Department officials seriously doubt that Russia will accept the proposal made by the Western Powers today for a conference opening in just three weeks on unifying Germany and completing an Austrian peace treaty.

While no one professes to know the mind of the Kremlin, the betting here is that the Soviets do not want to negotiate on Germany at this time and that they will not change their position against conferring on an Austrian independence treaty just now. There are several possible explanations suggested by officials here:

1. Premier Malenkov and Foreign Minister Molotov were frightened by the show of weakness of the East German Communist bosses at the time of the June 17 riots and in subsequent critical days. They may have concluded then that they could not depend on German Communist forces—as distinguished from Soviet military forces — to safeguard their interests in Germany.

2. The West German election triumph of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on Sept. 6 demonstrated a power and appeal of Western policies toward Germany which contrasted dramatically with the earlier weakness in East Germany.

3. The Soviet government may be bothered by various internal and satellite problems such as reorganization of the government and governmental policies following Stalin's death last spring.

Reds Again Curtail POW "Explanations"

Violence Puts Commies Near Patience End

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Oct. 19 (AP) — The Communists refused to make substitute explanations to anti-Red Chinese prisoners of war today after being told that North Korean POWs could not be brought before Red persuaders without a fight.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission canceled today's explanations to POWs before the violence-threatened sessions were to begin.

It told the Reds: "It has not been possible to persuade the Korean prisoners to come for explanations."

Insist On Koreans

The commission said the Communists insisted on talking to North Korean POWs and wouldn't accept the commission's repeated statement that it was impossible to get the North Koreans to listen.

North Koreans flatly refused to meet with the Communist explainers last Friday. The commission called off the Friday explanation session after the North Korean POWs ignored an ultimatum to leave their stockades and remained steadfast in their tents despite a show of force by troops of the Indian custodian command.

The Communists indicated they were nearing the end of their patience by declaring in a Peiping radio broadcast that they had been unable to carry out their task of explaining repatriation rights.

Lodge Strong Protest

Another Red broadcast said the Korean-Chinese side "has lodged the strongest protest with the American side" at the Military Armistice Commission, the ruling truce body" against what was termed "unlawful American sabotage."

The Reds demanded that the 90-day explanation period to 22,400 Korean and Chinese anti-Communist prisoners should be extended beyond the Dec. 24 deadline and be counted on the basis of the actual time consumed during explanation sessions.

Already the Communist timetable for interviewing 1,000 prisoners daily was running far behind schedule.

Communist propaganda outlets Sunday and early today bitterly complained that the two previous "explanation" sessions to a total of 950 Chinese had been obstructed by American-instigated agents. Less than two per cent of the interviewed prisoners—19 in all—have chosen to return home.

No interviews took place Sunday. The respite was ordered by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC).

Red interviewers drew a frustrating blank Friday when North Korean anti-Reds threatened a mass breakout attempt if Indian custodial troops forced them to leave their compounds. The Indian Command backed down and postponed the explanations to avoid bloodshed.

Tempers flared Saturday when representatives of the (NNRC) permitted Red "explainers" to harangue one Chinese prisoner for three hours in an effort to make him say he wanted to return to communism.

Dazed by the ordeal, the prisoner was unable to give coherent answers to questions. He was segregated by the repatriation commission instead of being returned to his fellow anti-Communist prisoners.

President Prays At Small Town Mission Church

MISSION, Tex., Oct. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower worshipped today in a small-town Presbyterian church whose pastor later said the main thing on his mind was "what God would have me say to a man with such burdens."

The sum of the Rev. Ernest F. Deutsch's first sermon to a President was that the affairs of spirit and state can be reconciled so that there is never a conflict—that God wants it that way.

Farouk's Adviser Gets Life Term

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 19 (AP)—Egypt's Revolutionary Court sentenced Karim Tabet, ex-King Farouk's press adviser, to life imprisonment today for high treason.

He was accused of conspiring with a foreign power, which was not publicly named, to undermine the Egyptian state and of abusing his power in office. The prosecutor declared Tabet was to a great extent responsible for Farouk's "extravagances" and encouraged the pudgy King in excesses.

The court ordered confiscation of Tabet's fortune and that of his wife—estimated at 144,000 pounds ($414,720), most of it amassed after 1946. The prosecution had called for the death penalty. Tabet pleaded innocent.

TEHRAN, Iran, Oct. 18 (AP)—U. S. expert Herbert Hoover Jr., arrived here yesterday for a two-week study of the Iranian oil problem.

Brownell Says He's Shocked At Teacher Pay

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 18 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today he was shocked by some recent statistics on school teachers' salaries in some parts of the country. He said messengers in the Justice Department are paid more in many instances.

"No wonder," he said, "that the teaching profession does not have the full attraction for the youth who might otherwise adopt it as a lifetime career."

The attorney general discussed the importance of the school in the prevention of juvenile delinquency in an address prepared for the dedication of a new campus at New Haven State Teachers College.

His brother. Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, president of the college since 1947, was named by President Eisenhower last week as the U. S. commissioner of education.

Asserting that the juvenile delinquency problem rests jointly on the home, the school and the church, Brownell said:

"I hope in time that teachers' salaries will increasingly be commensurate with their performance for good."

Brownell stated a flat belief that no child should be put in a jail. Asserting that many local jail facilities are wholly inadequate, he said the Federal Bureau of Prisons, which functions under him, maintains a continuing inspection of local jails to determine which are fit to be used for temporary detention of federal offenders.

News Oddities:

Wife Bags Deer In Yard, Hubby Returns Empty-Handed From Hunt

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—It was all a matter of timing for many people last week.

Hunting, where timing really counts, led to some strange incidents as the open season on hunters began in some sections of the country.

In Hampton, S. C., a fellow went deer hunting and ordered his wife to plan to cook a venison dinner. Hours later he crept home empty-handed. But there was venison in the oven. Seems a tired deer staggered into the back yard and the Mrs. slugged it over the head with a piece of kindling.

In Squaw Creek Canyon, Calif., a woman approached a hunter in the woods and said her husband was trying to hunt bear but couldn't find any. The hunter looked up, fired, and a 250-pound black bear dropped at their feet.

But near St. Charles, Mo., the animal kingdom struck back when a playful buck laid siege to a farm home. He butted the farmer, sharpened his antlers on a car and tried to force his way into the house. Failing to get in, he stood on his hind legs and stared through the windows. When last heard from, he was hanging around chasing anybody who ventured outside.

Steeplechase riding is all a matter of timing, too, as a jockey discovered at Southwell race track in England. He left the starting gate aboard a 20 to 1 shot, was thrown high into the air at a fence and landed on the back of the even money favorite, a game horse that was struggling to its feet after spilling its rider. Jockey and even money favorite made it to the finish—at a walk.

Lee Appointment To FCC Meeting Demo Opposition

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Some Democratic senators are preparing to question President Eisenhower's appointment of Robert E. Lee, friend of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), as a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Lee, a Washington, D. C., Republican who has been serving as director of surveys and investigations for the House Appropriations Committee, recently was named by Eisenhower to replace FCC Chairman Paul Walker, an Oklahoma Democrat.

The appointment gives Republicans 4-3 control of the commission but Democrats who may oppose Lee's confirmation say they have no objection on that score. Instead, they apparently intend to question his connection with the 1950 Maryland senatorial campaign.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), former chairman of the elections subcommittee which criticized that campaign as a "despicable, back street type," said in an interview that he thinks Lee's part in it would bear further looking into.

Atty. Gen. Brownell announced Friday the Justice Department had found no evidence of federal fraud or election law violations by McCarthy in the Maryland campaign or in the handling of his finances subsequently investigated by another elections subcommittee.

McCarthy backed Sen. John Marshal Butler, Republican, who defeated Democratic Sen. Millard Tydings.

Monroney protested that Brownell thus was "giving a clean bill to all the ugly features of one of the dirtiest political campaigns in recent history." Monroney mentioned Lee as being involved in the handling of contributions which the subcommittee said never were reported to the appropriate authorities in Maryland.

Leyte Inquiry To Open Today

BOSTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — A Navy court of inquiry headed by Rear Adm. Delbert S. Cornwell arrived tonight to open an investigation into Friday's searing explosion aboard the aircraft carrier Leyte, which cost 36 lives.

No deaths occurred during the day among the 30 injured, most of them Navy personnel. Four were listed as in serious condition from burns.

Abandon Hope For Plane Crew

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Oct. 18 (AP) —All hope for nine men of a U. S. Navy plane, which ditched today in the frigid swells of the North Atlantic off Iceland, was abandoned tonight.

A sea search was called off after the plane's rubber dinghy was found empty.

A fierce gale was blowing in the area southwest of Iceland where the dinghy was seen by a searching plane. Four American rescue planes from Keflavik Airfield, as well as several ships, took part in the search.

The plane radioed, 48 minutes after taking off from Keflafik Airport here, that it was down with engine trouble south of the Vestmanna Islands, off the Iceland coast. Four rescue planes and three boats immediately started a search. Officials here said the ocean probably was too rough to permit the downed airmen to use their rescue dinghy.

West Powers Invite Russia To Meeting

New Korean Peace Plan Is Advocated; Germany On Agenda

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Western Big Three today sent notes to Russia inviting her to participate in a Big Four foreign ministers conference Nov. 9 to deal with the unification of Germany, an independence treaty for Austria and organization of European security.

The notes were issued at the conclusion of a three-day meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France which dealt with means of approaching Russia and possible solutions for the troubled issues of Korea, Trieste and Palestine.

The ministers invited Italy and Yugoslavia to a five-nation meeting aimed at averting open hostilities over the Free Territory of Trieste.

Agree On Peace Plan

A diplomatic informant said the ministers also secretly agreed on a new plan for a Korean peace conference to get around the present deadlock over what nations should be represented. This source said the ministers proposed that seven countries be represented: the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Communist China, North Korea and South Korea.

There was no official confirmation of the report.

The three-day conference was attended by U. S. secretary of state John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

The notes to Russia proposed that the conference on Germany and Austria take place at Lugano, Switzerland. The reference to organizing European security at this meeting presumably meant Russia would be offered a non-aggression pact.

The ministers' communique said the three Western nations agreed to stick to the Oct. 8 decision on Trieste under which Britain and the United States agreed to withdraw occupying forces from Trieste's Zone A and turn it over to Italian administration.

Dulles "Very Happy"

Dulles left by plane for Washington, saying he was "very happy about the conference as a whole." Bidault emplaned for Paris, appearing unenthusiastic about results of the talks.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that British Prime Minister Churchill had sounded out Dulles and Bidault on the idea of his going alone to Moscow to meet Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov. Churchill's aim, it was understood, would be to set up a later conference to include Malenkov, U. S. President Eisenhower, French Premier Joseph Laniel, and himself.

In a communique at the close of their meeting, the three foreign ministers:

1. Called urgently for a meeting of the United Nations Security Council to consider Israeli-Arab tensions, especially the recent border incident in which Israel was accused of attacking three Jordan villages and causing a heavy loss of life.

2. Reaffirmed their declaration of May 25, 1950, guaranteeing peace in the Middle East.

3. Reviewed the Korean and Indochinese situations.

Economy Takes Dip Down As Government Keeps Watch

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The economy has turned down a little from its towering peak of last spring and the Eisenhower administration has put its "economic climate" theory at work to keep the dip from becoming a plunge.

Abruptly, the administration has switched from the emphasis it formerly put on balancing the budget next year to foreshadowing possibly continued red ink spending.

Quietly, the Federal Reserve System has eased the tight grip it had on the money supply last spring, making money easier to get, tilting interest rates downward, lowering the cost of doing business.

There were indications last week that business may already be perking up in the more cheerful climate.

If that is the case it will reverse a downturn which, though slight, had caught the attention of economists. The President's council of Economic Advisers published a report 10 days ago that the economy dipped from a 372½ billion dollar pace in the second quarter of the year to a 371 billion dollar rate in the third quarter. A main factor, the report said, was a drop in government spending. The small downturn, however, left the economy still 7 per cent ahead of the third quarter last year.

Among other government remedies, the new administration has relaxed, for the time being at least, its "hard dollar" program.

The Treasury has been borrowing in past months on short term securities, the kind Eisenhower economic theorists call inflationary. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and his deputy for debt management, W. Randolph Burgess, have repeatedly assured investors they will go easy with their program of long term, anti-inflationary borrowing.

Wicks Defends Visit To Jailed Labor Man

—Jurisdictional Dispute Avoided

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP) — Acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks, fighting for political vindication over visits to jailed labor extortionist Joe Fay, said today his trips were to keep labor peace without seeking or giving favors.

Wicks said he went to Sing Sing prison to get Fay's help in avoiding union jurisdictional troubles in his district and called Fay "the one man whom labor trusted and in whom they had confidence."

Fay, 61, an AFL building construction official, is serving a prison term for shaking down contractors for $386,000.

Wicks said he thought it "obnoxious" that he had to deal with a prisoner, but said that a "competent" legislator has to contend with "this other government — that representing labor and its interests."

"My only purpose in going was to keep labor peace and avoid jurisdictional strikes in my senatorial district," said Wicks, who is from Kingston in the mid-Hudson River valley. "That is what I accomplished. That is all that I accomplished. And that is all that I sought to accomplish. So help me God."

A last-minute television hitch added a dramatic fillip to the first presentation of Wicks' filmed half-hour talk over station WNBT, giving his side of the controversy. Other TV and radio stations in a statewide network were to air the program later in the day.

The TV station said delivery of the film to the studio had been delayed, and the program was put into the schedule 90 minutes later.

The 65-year-old Wicks said in his talk he was taking to the people his fight against "guilt by implication," built up over his acknowledged prison visits to Fay.

The recent disclosure that 88 persons, including Wicks, had visited Fay in prison rocked political circles in New York and New Jersey.

Following a meeting with Wicks several days ago, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey disclosed he had asked Wicks to resign as Republican Senate majority leader, the post which automatically made him acting lieutenant governor. Wicks flatly refused.

The case exploded to bi-state proportions when it was disclosed that Paul L. Troast, Republican candidate for New Jersey governor, had previously written Dewey, urging a parole for Fay. Fay has been in prison since 1948, serving a 7½ to 15 year term. He was transferred recently from Sing Sing to Dannemora, near the Canadian border, the "Siberia" of the state's penal system.

Dewey has called a special session of the State Legislature beginning Nov. 17 to examine the Wicks case. At that time, Wicks has said, he will resign as majority leader and then seek re-election to the post as vindication.

His re-election would be a major defeat for Dewey.

Nixon Refuses Trade Prediction

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 18 (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon said tonight he couldn't predict what Congress will do about easing trade barriers on wool, meat and dairy products.

In a nationwide radio broadcast Nixon told trade-conscious Australians that trade restrictions are a "domestic political issue" in the United States.

Australian leaders are expected to make the question of trade restrictions a major point when they discuss Australian-American questions in a meeting at Canberra Tuesday.

Nixon has refrained in public statements from making any promise that restrictions on dairy products would be eased or that possible wool tariffs would be avoided, although he has said that Australia's concern over trade matters would be brought to the attention of top Washington officials.

Nixon resumes his busy schedule tomorrow, meeting Melbourne officials before departing for Canberra.

Several Hurt In Train Wreck

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP) — A passenger train plowed into a steel casting at nearly a mile a minute here last night, but only a dozen or so of 344 passengers reported injuries.

Only the engine of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Arlington" was flipped over in the collision with a ton or so of steel, although nine cars were derailed. A railroad spokesman said it was rare good fortune that none of the crew and so few of the passengers were hurt.

Only nine of those taken to Baltimore hospitals were actually treated, and only one, Ann Smith, of Trenton, N. J., was still hospitalized today. She was being held at Franklin Square Hospital for "observation" and treatment of shock.

The railroad said 47 other passengers reported bruises or similar minor injuries.

The train, en route from New York to Washington, left Baltimore at 11:44 p.m. and struck the casting on the tracks southwest of here shortly afterward.

A railroad spokesman said in Philadelphia today that the casting, described as triangular shaped and weighing about a ton, fell from a freight train, derailing one truck of the 68th car. The train dragged along for about a half mile before the accident was noted and the freight stopped.

The passenger train came along on a track adjacent to the freight's too soon for any warning to be issued and smacked into the casting.

The engineer, A. C. Baker, said he jerked the emergency brake as his headlights picked up the casting, but he was unable to stop in time.

Warm And Dry Weather Prevails

[By The Associated Press]

Warm, dry and sunny weather prevailed over much of the nation Sunday.

The exceptions included rain in southern Florida and along the Pacific Coast, widely scattered light rains from Texas to the Dakotas and an autumn chill in the northern Rockies and in the Northeast.

But the mercury headed into the 80s across most of the Midwest to stretch a spell of Indian summer into the second week in that area.

Mild weather also prevailed in the Central and South Atlantic states. Caribou, Me., reported a crisp early morning low of 28 degrees.

Clark Is Glad For Retirement

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark, who capped 40 years of military service as United Nations commander in Korea, said today he looks forward with great relief to his retirement.

The general flew here today for a reception in his honor at Governor's Island tomorrow and a hero's ticker-tape parade along lower Broadway on Tuesday.

Pardoned Once, Don't Steal Again

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Mexican Supreme Court ruled yesterday that a man can be pardoned once for stealing because of hunger—but not twice.

Alberto Alamo Carrasco appealed from a lower court verdict which sent him to jail for three years for stealing a calf. He claimed he stole because he was hungry. But the high court found he had been arrested and freed once before on a similar claim and ruled that Mexican law cannot be stretched to cover "cases of repeated theft with the attempted justification of innocence."

UN GETS TRIESTE PROBLEM — Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky (left) brings the explosive Trieste situation before the United Nations Security Council in New York as he demands restoration of the Free Territory to an international administration. Branding the Russian demand as "another propaganda device," United States Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (right) said he would not oppose Vishinsky's resolution calling for a governor of Trieste. He defended an order to withdraw United States-British forces from Zone A in Trieste. (International)

Russians, U.S. Are Evenly Matched In Strategic Bases

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Russian and American strategic bombing power—the system of air bases, planes and explosives to erase cities — now is almost evenly matched.

That was pointed up over the weekend in an address by Roger Lewis assistant secretary of the Air Force. He said the U. S. Air Force has come upon evidence recently that the Russians probably are producing a heavy bomber comparable in range and performance to the American B36.

Behind Lewis' statement lay a series of speeches by other Air Force officials emphasizing the importance of strategic bombers. Beyond that was the recently expressed concern of President Eisenhower over the awful consequences to both the victors and the vanquished in any atomic war. And background to all the public statements is the known or estimated strategic bombing capabilities of the two greatest military powers.

Most of the major industrial centers and the capitals of each nation are within reach of currently operating bombers of the U. S. Air Force and the Soviet Union's air bombardment fleet.

Gas Line Explosion Blasts Deep Crater

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—A break in a 30-inch natural gas transmission line set off an explosion today which ripped an 18-foot deep crater and spread fire over a 5-acre corn field 14 miles east of this western Pennsylvania town. No one was injured.

The blast rattled windows in homes miles away. Firemen at Carmichaels, Pa., a mile and a half from the scene, said persons on Summit Mountain, 30 miles away reported seeing the fire's reflection against the pre-dawn sky.

NATO Doubles Its Air Fleets

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Gen. Lauris Norstad said today NATO's European command has more than doubled its vital air fleets in the past 2½ years but still needs more planes.

Norstad, air deputy to SHAPE commander Gen. Alfred Gruenther, said in a broadcast on NATO aims: "Our growing combined military strength will be the shield of NATO—air power is the sword."

Liniment Helps Arthritis Pain

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP) — Old-fashioned liniment, grandma's standby remedy, is sometimes better than the wonder hormones to relieve pain or arthritis and rheumatism, a new medical study said today.

The liniment is Sloan's, first developed 75 years ago for horses.

It is credited with relieving pain and permitting more movement in 82 per cent of 148 arthritis and rheumatism patients tested at the New England Medical Center and Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge, Mass.

The report is made in the Connecticut Medical Journal by Dr. Heinrich Brugsch and Dr. Ralph Manning of Tufts College Medical School and arthritis clinics in the Boston area.

Most of the 148 were patients who had not been measurably benefited by the anti-arthritis hormones, cortisone and ASTH, or other treatments, they said.

After a few weeks of liniment treatment many were able to leave their beds and most were able to move affected joints with greater freedom.

Physical therapy experts then can give more effective exercises and training to restore usefulness or prevent deformities of arthritic joints.

Agents' Trial In Colonel's Slaying Begins

NOVARA, Italy, Oct. 18 (AP)—Two war-time American agents and three Italians go on trial here tomorrow for the 1944 cloak-and-dagger slaying of Maj. William Holohan of New York City.

The Americans, who will be tried in absentia, are ex-Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, Pa., and former Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N. Y., who parachuted behind Nazi lines in northern Italy to arrange supplies for Italian partisan groups.

Holohan was shot to death Dec. 6, 1944, after an earlier attempt to poison him failed. Italian authorities confirmed his murder when they recovered the major's body from Lake Orta in June, 1950.

The government accuses Icardi of planning the slaying, and Lo Dolce is charged with firing the fatal shots.

Three Italian partisans, Gualtieri Tozzini, Giuseppe Mannini and Aminta Migliari will be tried in person for participating in the murder.

Italy asked extradition of the two Americans, but a U. S. Federal Court ruled Lo Dolce could not be extradited.

Last July in Washington a House armed services subcommittee reported finding sufficient evidence to indict both Icardi and Lo Dolce but decided there was no legal way to prosecute them in the United States.

Holohan, Icardi and Lo Dolce parachuted into north Italy, between Lake Maggiore and Lake Orta. The government charges that a dispute arose among the men as to how supplies should be distributed. Holohan, in charge of the mission, objected to supplying Communist partisans. Icardi and Lo Dolce favored it, the government alleges. A large supply of gold given the mission by the OSS for partisan activities never was recovered.

War Inventions Probe Planned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said today he plans public hearings next month on a proposal to put up big cash awards to lure inventive genius—domestic and foreign—to aid the U. S. defense effort.

Among other things he intends to check on whether penny-pinching policies by the government are discouraging inventors in such fields as radar, guided missiles and undersea weapons.

Wiley, now in Wisconsin, announced his plans through his office here. Main subject of the hearings will be a bill introduced earlier this year by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) to offer cash awards up to $75,000 each, and greater if Congress by special act gives its consent, to inventors of defense items.

The bill would also permit use of government funds to help inventors develop their ideas into working models.

Wiley will preside at the hearings starting some time next month before a Senate judiciary subcommittee which he heads. Other members are Senators Jenner (R-Ind) and Eastland (D-Miss).

Germ Center Death Mystery

FREDERICK, Oct. 18 (AP) — The death of a young civilian employe at the Army's hush-hush germ warfare center near here was cloaked in mystery today.

Officials said Ralph W. Elbert, 24-year-old Navy veteran, died Saturday two days after being stricken.

An autopsy was performed yesterday in Frederick Memorial Hospital.

An Army spokesman said it was up to the county medical examiner to disclose the cause of death.

The examiner, Dr. Robert J. Furie, said it was up to the Army.

"I don't even know the background of the man's illness," said Furie. "He was employed by a civilian firm at an Army base and was engaged in bacteriological work under high security classifications."

The autopsy was performed by an army medical officer, he added.

Married and the father of two children, Elbert had lived at nearby Mt. Airy, Md. Other survivors include his father and a brother in Reading, Pa., and a sister in Middletown, Pa.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an over-all cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naphtha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner known as Fina Foam may be purchased at ROSENBAUM'S.

Today, 55% more students are in college than in 1940!

EDUCATION is becoming more and more important in the competition for good jobs and advancement. The number of college students reached a peak in 1949 under the G.I. Bill of Rights. However, the 2,116,400 students now enrolled mark an increase of 55% over 1940.

The increasing emphasis on education is just one of many important changes we've seen in recent years. More people are getting married—and at younger ages. We're raising bigger families. We're buying more homes than ever before. Our whole way of living is changing! This means we have much more to protect.

And life insurance is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet our new needs.

For example—to meet the increasing interest of parents in sending their children to college, the life insurance companies have devised plans suited to a wider variety of family situations. Some are based on special educational policies, others on the family's present life insurance. All have the effect of assuring funds for college, whether the father lives or not.

More and more families are also using life insurance to provide a regular income at the death or retirement of the breadwinner. Others are using policies planned for particular needs, such as paying off the mortgage on their homes in case they do not live to complete the payments.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it stacks up with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

The recent disclosure that 88 persons, including Wicks, had visited Fay in prison rocked political circles in New York and New Jersey.

Following a meeting with Wicks several days ago, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey disclosed he had asked Wicks to resign as Republican Senate majority leader, the post which automatically made him acting lieutenant governor. Wicks flatly refused.

The case exploded to bi-state proportions when it was disclosed that Paul L. Troast, Republican candidate for New Jersey governor, had previously written Dewey, urging a parole for Fay. Fay has been in prison since 1948, serving a 7½ to 15 year term. He was transferred recently from Sing Sing to Dannemora, near the Canadian border, the "Siberia" of the state's penal system.

Dewey has called a special session of the State Legislature beginning Nov. 17 to examine the Wicks case. At that time, Wicks has said, he will resign as majority leader and then seek re-election to the post as vindication.

His re-election would be a major defeat for Dewey.

Nixon Refuses Trade Prediction

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 18 (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon said tonight he couldn't predict what Congress will do about easing trade barriers on wool, meat and dairy products.

In a nationwide radio broadcast Nixon told trade-conscious Australians that trade restrictions are a "domestic political issue" in the United States.

Australian leaders are expected to make the question of trade restrictions a major point when they discuss Australian-American questions in a meeting at Canberra Tuesday.

Nixon has refrained in public statements from making any promise that restrictions on dairy products would be eased or that possible wool tariffs would be avoided, although he has said that Australia's concern over trade matters would be brought to the attention of top Washington officials.

Nixon resumes his busy schedule tomorrow, meeting Melbourne officials before departing for Canberra.

Several Hurt In Train Wreck

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP) — A passenger train plowed into a steel casting at nearly a mile a minute here last night, but only a dozen or so of 344 passengers reported injuries.

Only the engine of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Arlington" was flipped over in the collision with a ton or so of steel, although nine cars were derailed. A railroad spokesman said it was rare good fortune that none of the crew and so few of the passengers were hurt.

Only nine of those taken to Baltimore hospitals were actually treated, and only one, Ann Smith, of Trenton, N. J., was still hospitalized today. She was being held at Franklin Square Hospital for "observation" and treatment of shock.

The railroad said 47 other passengers reported bruises or similar minor injuries.

The train, en route from New York to Washington, left Baltimore at 11:44 p.m. and struck the casting on the tracks southwest of here shortly afterward.

A railroad spokesman said in Philadelphia today that the casting, described as triangular shaped and weighing about a ton, fell from a freight train, derailing one truck of the 68th car. The train dragged along for about a half mile before the accident was noted and the freight stopped.

The passenger train came along on a track adjacent to the freight's too soon for any warning to be issued and smacked into the casting.

The engineer, A. C. Baker, said he jerked the emergency brake as his headlights picked up the casting, but he was unable to stop in time.

Warm And Dry Weather Prevails

[By The Associated Press]

Warm, dry and sunny weather prevailed over much of the nation Sunday.

The exceptions included rain in southern Florida and along the Pacific Coast, widely scattered light rains from Texas to the Dakotas and an autumn chill in the northern Rockies and in the Northeast.

But the mercury headed into the 80s across most of the Midwest to stretch a spell of Indian summer into the second week in that area.

Mild weather also prevailed in the Central and South Atlantic states. Caribou, Me., reported a crisp early morning low of 28 degrees.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark, who capped 40 years of military service as United Nations commander in Korea, said today he looks forward with great relief to his retirement.

The general flew here today for a reception in his honor at Governor's Island tomorrow and a hero's ticker-tape parade along lower Broadway on Tuesday.

Pardoned Once, Don't Steal Again

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Mexican Supreme Court ruled yesterday that a man can be pardoned once for stealing because of hunger—but not twice.

Alberto Alamo Carrasco appealed from a lower court verdict which sent him to jail for three years for stealing a calf. He claimed he stole because he was hungry. But the high court found he had been arrested and freed once before on a similar claim and ruled that Mexican law cannot be stretched to cover "cases of repeated theft with the attempted justification of innocence."

UN GETS TRIESTE PROBLEM — Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky (left) brings the explosive Trieste situation before the United Nations Security Council in New York as he demands restoration of the Free Territory to an international administration. Branding the Russian demand as "another propaganda device," United States Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (right) said he would not oppose Vishinsky's resolution calling for a governor of Trieste. He defended an order to withdraw United States-British forces from Zone A in Trieste. (International)

Russians, U.S. Are Evenly Matched In Strategic Bases

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Russian and American strategic bombing power—the system of air bases, planes and explosives to erase cities — now is almost evenly matched.

That was pointed up over the weekend in an address by Roger Lewis assistant secretary of the Air Force. He said the U. S. Air Force has come upon evidence recently that the Russians probably are producing a heavy bomber comparable in range and performance to the American B36.

Behind Lewis' statement lay a series of speeches by other Air Force officials emphasizing the importance of strategic bombers. Beyond that was the recently expressed concern of President Eisenhower over the awful consequences to both the victors and the vanquished in any atomic war. And background to all the public statements is the known or estimated strategic bombing capabilities of the two greatest military powers.

Most of the major industrial centers and the capitals of each nation are within reach of currently operating bombers of the U. S. Air Force and the Soviet Union's air bombardment fleet.

Gas Line Explosion Blasts Deep Crater

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—A break in a 30-inch natural gas transmission line set off an explosion today which ripped an 18-foot deep crater and spread fire over a 5-acre corn field 14 miles east of this western Pennsylvania town. No one was injured.

The blast rattled windows in homes miles away. Firemen at Carmichaels, Pa., a mile and a half from the scene, said persons on Summit Mountain, 30 miles away reported seeing the fire's reflection against the pre-dawn sky.

NATO Doubles Its Air Fleets

Norstad, air deputy to SHAPE commander Gen. Alfred Gruenther, said in a broadcast on NATO aims: "Our growing combined military strength will be the shield of NATO—air power is the sword."

Liniment Helps Arthritis Pain

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP) — Old-fashioned liniment, grandma's standby remedy, is sometimes better than the wonder hormones to relieve pain or arthritis and rheumatism, a new medical study said today.

The liniment is Sloan's, first developed 75 years ago for horses.

It is credited with relieving pain and permitting more movement in 82 per cent of 148 arthritis and rheumatism patients tested at the New England Medical Center and Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge, Mass.

The report is made in the Connecticut Medical Journal by Dr. Heinrich Brugsch and Dr. Ralph Manning of Tufts College Medical School and arthritis clinics in the Boston area.

Most of the 148 were patients who had not been measurably benefited by the anti-arthritis hormones, cortisone and ASTH, or other treatments, they said.

After a few weeks of liniment treatment many were able to leave their beds and most were able to move affected joints with greater freedom.

Physical therapy experts then can give more effective exercises and training to restore usefulness or prevent deformities of arthritic joints.

Agents' Trial In Colonel's Slaying Begins

NOVARA, Italy, Oct. 18 (AP)—Two war-time American agents and three Italians go on trial here tomorrow for the 1944 cloak-and-dagger slaying of Maj. William Holohan of New York City.

The Americans, who will be tried in absentia, are ex-Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, Pa., and former Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N. Y., who parachuted behind Nazi lines in northern Italy to arrange supplies for Italian partisan groups.

Holohan was shot to death Dec. 6, 1944, after an earlier attempt to poison him failed. Italian authorities confirmed his murder when they recovered the major's body from Lake Orta in June, 1950.

The government accuses Icardi of planning the slaying, and Lo Dolce is charged with firing the fatal shots.

Three Italian partisans, Gualtieri Tozzini, Giuseppe Mannini and Aminta Migliari will be tried in person for participating in the murder.

Italy asked extradition of the two Americans, but a U. S. Federal Court ruled Lo Dolce could not be extradited.

Last July in Washington a House armed services subcommittee reported finding sufficient evidence to indict both Icardi and Lo Dolce but decided there was no legal way to prosecute them in the United States.

Holohan, Icardi and Lo Dolce parachuted into north Italy, between Lake Maggiore and Lake Orta. The government charges that a dispute arose among the men as to how supplies should be distributed. Holohan, in charge of the mission, objected to supplying Communist partisans. Icardi and Lo Dolce favored it, the government alleges. A large supply of gold given the mission by the OSS for partisan activities never was recovered.

War Inventions Probe Planned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said today he plans public hearings next month on a proposal to put up big cash awards to lure inventive genius—domestic and foreign—to aid the U. S. defense effort.

Among other things he intends to check on whether penny-pinching policies by the government are discouraging inventors in such fields as radar, guided missiles and undersea weapons.

Wiley, now in Wisconsin, announced his plans through his office here. Main subject of the hearings will be a bill introduced earlier this year by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) to offer cash awards up to $75,000 each, and greater if Congress by special act gives its consent, to inventors of defense items.

The bill would also permit use of government funds to help inventors develop their ideas into working models.

Wiley will preside at the hearings starting some time next month before a Senate judiciary subcommittee which he heads. Other members are Senators Jenner (R-Ind) and Eastland (D-Miss).

Germ Center Death Mystery

FREDERICK, Oct. 18 (AP) — The death of a young civilian employe at the Army's hush-hush germ warfare center near here was cloaked in mystery today.

Officials said Ralph W. Elbert, 24-year-old Navy veteran, died Saturday two days after being stricken.

An autopsy was performed yesterday in Frederick Memorial Hospital.

An Army spokesman said it was up to the county medical examiner to disclose the cause of death.

The examiner, Dr. Robert J. Furie, said it was up to the Army.

"I don't even know the background of the man's illness," said Furie. "He was employed by a civilian firm at an Army base and was engaged in bacteriological work under high security classifications."

The autopsy was performed by an army medical officer, he added.

Married and the father of two children, Elbert had lived at nearby Mt. Airy, Md. Other survivors include his father and a brother in Reading, Pa., and a sister in Middletown, Pa.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an over-all cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naphtha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner known as Fina Foam may be purchased at ROSENBAUM'S.

Today, 55% more students are in college than in 1940!

EDUCATION is becoming more and more important in the competition for good jobs and advancement. The number of college students reached a peak in 1949 under the G.I. Bill of Rights. However, the 2,116,400 students now enrolled mark an increase of 55% over 1940.

The increasing emphasis on education is just one of many important changes we've seen in recent years. More people are getting married—and at younger ages. We're raising bigger families. We're buying more homes than ever before. Our whole way of living is changing! This means we have much more to protect.

And life insurance is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet our new needs.

For example—to meet the increasing interest of parents in sending their children to college, the life insurance companies have devised plans suited to a wider variety of family situations. Some are based on special educational policies, others on the family's present life insurance. All have the effect of assuring funds for college, whether the father lives or not.

More and more families are also using life insurance to provide a regular income at the death or retirement of the breadwinner. Others are using policies planned for particular needs, such as paying off the mortgage on their homes in case they do not live to complete the payments.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it stacks up with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

Fires May End Hunting Season

The hunting season in Western Maryland may be closed in the event any more forest fires are attributed to careless nimrods.

Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, issued this directive to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Minke said all game wardens have been urged by Vaughn to be on the lookout for careless hunters who start fires.

The season will be closed in the event any more fires are directly chargeable to hunters, Minke added.

Meanwhile, forestry crews fought another forest fire in Garrett County yesterday.

William H. Johnson, district forester, has blamed at least a dozen fires on hunters since the first of the month and at least four others on arsonists.

Twenty-two forest fires of more than minor extent have been reported in Maryland's two westernmost counties since Oct. 1.

Johnson reported the only serious blaze today covered two to three acres in the Sang Run section of Garrett County near McHenry.

Director Vaughn asked all game wardens in the two western counties to watch the forest fire situation closely, describing the woods as "most dangerous."

There have been two big fires since the first of the month, the other one being a 160-acre blaze last weekend about two miles west of Oakland.

Tilden Norris, district forester for nine adjoining counties in West Virginia, said at his headquarters in Romney the fire situation in his area had been much better this year than last because of West Virginia's state-wide ban on hunting.

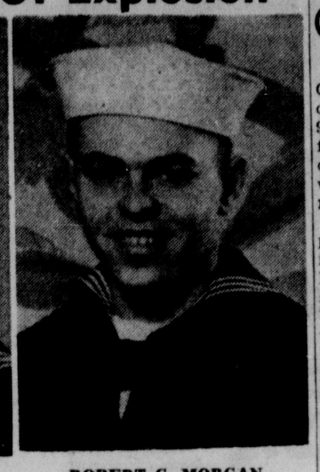
Area Brothers Aboard Leyte During Time Of Explosion

DONALD A. MORGAN



ROBERT C. MORGAN

Two Allegany youths were aboard the aircraft carrier Leyte which was damaged by a violent explosion and fire Friday while berthed at the Boston Naval Shipyard.

They are Robert and Donald Morgan, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan, of Barrelville, six miles northwest of Cumberland.

Robert, 21, telephoned his father Friday night after he was relieved from his rescue efforts following the blast. The youth told his father that he was "shaken up" by the blast but was otherwise okay. He said he was below decks when the violent explosion shook the vessel but was able to make his way through smoke and fire to the topside after giving aid to sailors nearby.

His brother, Donald, 20, also fought the flames and helped with rescue efforts until he became exhausted. Mr. Morgan said he could not remember too much of what his son told him on the phone as he was agitated by fear after hearing of the explosion. He knew both of his sons were aboard the carrier.

Donald Morgan was home last week on furlough and had only returned to the vessel a few days before the tragic explosion in which 36 sailors met their death.

Both youths attended Mt. Savage High School and have been in the Navy for some months. Robert was a member of the Naval Reserve unit in Cumberland for three years before being called to active duty in January of 1951. His brother, Donald, enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting station in May of 1952.

The blast occurred forward on the port side of the big, 27,500-ton carrier that cost 90 million dollars when she was launched at Newport News, Va., in 1945. Unofficial reports said 1,400 officers and men were on board when tragedy struck.

It was the worst Navy explosion in peacetime since 48 men died aboard the battleship Mississippi off the California coast June 12, 1924.

A court of inquiry was expected to be convened by Vice Adm. John J. Ballentine, Atlantic Fleet air commander.

The 856-foot-long Leyte, docked for overhaul after combat action off Korea in October-December, 1950, came to Boston last December and was almost ready to go to sea again. She had been out for a trial run only Wednesday.

I apologized to the feathered carrion and agreed to join the mynahs union.

Who's For Mynahs?

Here's a question of free-loading etiquette which will make Emily Post calibrate her clinical monocle at very high dudgeon.

At a hotel reception just below timberline on Fifth Avenue, I was rebuked by Mrs. Carveth Wells for interrupting her mynah birds.

I apologized to the feathered carrion and agreed to join the mynahs union.

Then I sat down with the morose thought I would have to go back across the tracks and start all over again. Since Mynah birds have taken over the small talk even Noah Webster can't call a word his own.

Those two mynahs chattered like they had gone to college in the lobby of the Metropolitan Opera.

One of the birds whistled the "Star Spangled Banner" and I had to stand up.

Churchill And The Bomb

To Sir Winston Churchill the temptation must be strong to scoop the ball from American hands and run with it—the ball in this context being an overture to Soviet Russia on peace, the hydrogen bomb, and disarmament. Indeed, just three days before Churchill's Margate speech, a British source saw fit to deny that the prime minister was prepared to go to Moscow to arrange with Premier Malenkov a future four-power conference.

The statement was in the form of a demurrer against a charge made on September 26 by Tom O'Brien, Laborite M. P. but an admirer of Churchill, that the prime minister was being held back from four-power talks by "American reluctance on the one hand and Russian reticence on the other." Laborites less friendly to Churchill, including former Prime Minister Attlee, have accused him of not sufficiently pushing a four-power conference.

Churchill, back in action after a long rest, is overdue for a strong bid for public support of his party and his foreign policy. The bid would be made against a background of growing British — and European — criticism of the "rigidity" of American policy toward Russia, and of the new situation created by Russia's possession of at least the means of exploding a hydrogen bomb.

One British attitude is reflected by an editorial in the August 22 London Economist: "It is bad tactics to define one's intentions too strictly in advance—in effect, to tear up good cards before playing the hand . . . Above all, in the present international atmosphere it is bad tactics to present oneself as the less reasonable party. Mr. Eisenhower has allowed his subordinates to commit all these errors, apparently in the name of firmness."

Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of State, took occasion to welcome new and "not inflexible" U. S. views on disarmament in a speech to the U. N. General Assembly on September 24. Lloyd continued: "I only wish we could have some indication of flexibility or novelty in the Soviet Union's disarmament proposals." Lloyd has since returned to England for conferences with Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

Sir Winston is understandably influenced by the position of other members of the British Commonwealth on peace and the hydrogen bomb. In proposing an international "player" on peace on September 28, V. K. K. Menon of India also called on the U. N. General Assembly "to declare itself in favor of the non-use of these weapons (atomic and hydrogen bombs) for destructive purposes."

A new idea for breaking the deadlock on atomic control was put forth by Sir Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the United States, in a talk in New York on October 6. His solution: an agreement that on a stipulated date "the use of atomic and hydrogen bombs and weapons shall be prohibited." But Sir Percy added a powerful caveat—"provided that in the meantime effective systems of control and inspection are able not only to be agreed to but also put into effect."

These and other British and Commonwealth statements seemed not to have influenced basic U. S. policy on the bomb, beyond Secretary of State Dulles' pledge on October 6 that, "We are not going to allow ourselves to be discouraged as long as there is any possibility of finding a way of easing tensions . . . particularly having regard to the growing, mounting peril that there is in the new weapons."

Living With H-Bomb

Word has gone out from the White House that the American people are to be told more about the hydrogen bomb and what it means to them. The result, for the moment, is a welter of confusion, with officials sounding off all over the place.

Meanwhile Senator Hickenlooper doubts the value of further revelations. The public already knows the fundamental facts, he says—to reveal more might endanger security. He may be right, but the administration's purpose is sound.

Most persons still talk and think about world problems as if not even the A-bomb had been invented. Old habits of thinking die hard, so the administration has concluded that the American people need to live more closely with the idea of superweapons to foster synchronization of thinking with realities.

It doesn't really matter that Gordon Dean, former Atomic Energy Commission chairman, thinks Russia will have the power to destroy America in a year or two, while Defense Secretary Wilson thinks it will take three or four years.

It's not important that Civil Defense Administrator Peterson paints horrendous pictures of immediate destruction and Defense Mobilization Director Fleming thinks Russia can now hit the U. S. suddenly, without warning, with H-bombs, and they are backed up, more or less, by Chairman Cole of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. If these men are overestimating Russia's destructive potential at the moment, they may be describing accurately what it will be one, or two, or five years from now.

The administraton doesn't want the public scared to death, but it wants the fact to be calmly understood that for the first time this country is vulnerable to bombs.

Sanity may be the price of survival.

Fewer Reds In France

Communism, says former Premier Antoine Pinay, no longer offers a serious internal threat in France. This sounds as if Pinay is simply whistling in the Tuileries. Those on this side of the Atlantic find it difficult to believe that the threat has shrunk so small, remembering the crippling strikes last summer and the current attempt of the Reds to cripple government in France by trying to lure the Socialists into another united front like the one that devitalized French defenses before World War II.

It is obvious, however, that the Reds have lost some ground in France. As Pinay points out, since 1945 membership in the Communist party in that country has dropped from more than 1,000,000 to 400,000. In the same eight-year span, circulation of Red newspapers published in France has slipped from 2,700,000 to 800,000.

But even as few as 400,000 Reds can exert considerable leverage—especially when aided and abetted by millions of fellow travelers—on French politics as long as France clings to a constitution which leaves the responsibilities of government to weak and unstable coalitions of numerous minority groups.

How To Keep Well

Indigestion Takes Many Forms

Biliousness is an old fashioned term used by grandma to explain her bouts of nausea, vomiting, headache, and a heavy sensation in "the pit of the stomach." Her tongue was furred and the associated constipation was given as much blame as the bile she vomited. Actually, neither was responsible.

Grandma's digestion was disturbed from eating tainted food or too many rich dishes. There also is a possibility that she was overtired from too much work or excitement, or upset emotionally. At any rate, we can be certain that whatever affected her digestion also produced headache and constipation. The bile in the vomitus which attracted most of the attention was a natural occurence. This substance slips into the gastric pouch whenever the stomach and intestine go into reverse.

When acute indigestion develops in children it is natural to think of appendicitis or the onset of sore throat or respiratory infection; but there is just as good a chance that fatigue or excitement is responsible. If so, the majority are as good as new after a full night's sleep. Baking soda, peppermint water, tea, or ginger ale usually help nausea and if the boy or girl wants something to eat he may have a piece of toast or a bowl of cereal to hold him over until morning.

Acute indigestion in adults may result from a disorder of the stomach, gall bladder, or appendix. Associated symptoms generally are present, however, and more expert care is required than a home remedy or one that is bought over the counter at the drug store. On the other hand, when overindulgence in food or drink is to blame, the condition seldom needs treatment, as it is transient. If nausea persists, drinking hot tea, salted bouillon, or an antacid or alkaline water such as vichy will help. Sometimes relief is obtained by eating an absorbent substance such as dry toast or salted soda crackers. Sedatives, antispasmodics, and ulcer medications also are useful, more so when "biliousness" has become chronic. These products have their drawbacks, however, because all too often the chronic sufferer places too much reliance on the remedy and neglects to track down the cause.

Dyspepsia, another form of indigestion, usually is associated with abdominal discomfort, gas, belching, water brash, and appetite disturbances. The stomach appears to be at fault but in most instances the origin is non-gastric. Worry is a common cause. Eating too fast or at irregular intervals also contributes, as well as overwork or overindulgence in alcohol. Swallowing air is another offender. Dyspepsia, like biliousness, may respond to soda and other antacids but when symptoms persist investigation is necessary.

There are many forms of indigestion. Now and then it is the first sign of uremia, heart failure, angina pectoris, or arteriosclerosis. Too much acid is a possibility and this can be determined by testing the gastric contents. When there is an excess, discomfort is at its height while the meal is being digested. But too little acid may lead to the same manifestations and here relief is obtained by taking dilute hydrochloric acid.

SNEEZE STOPPER

J. J. K. writes: I have discovered a way to suppress a sneeze. I put my handkerchief up to my nose when I feel a sneeze coming on and press with thumb and forefinger. I believe that educating the public to use my system will help check the spread of colds and other infections.

REPLY

There's no harm in preventing a sneeze but once it is inevitable, the reflex should not be suppressed, especially by pinching the nose. The pressure created within the nasal cavity by this maneuver may drive infected secretions into the ears or sinuses. Covering the mouth with hand or handkerchief will present the sneezer from spraying his associates.

SLEEPING POSTURE

E. P. writes: I like to sleep on my tummy, but someone told me that this is injurious to the breasts and, in addition, was the explanation of the small size of bust. Is this just a crazy idea?

REPLY

Yes. The size of the breasts has nothing to do with the sleeping posture. Most people sleep on the side, but to my knowledge no one has ever proved that sleeping on the back or the stomach affects health in any way.

SHOCK THERAPY RESULTS

L. E. writes: Is the electro-shock treatment helpful in schizophrenia?

REPLY

Yes, particularly in the early stage of the mental disease, in one series of 112 cases, 60 per cent were improved or much improved. The results depend upon the age, the duration of the illness, and the type of onset (gradual or sudden).

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Top Louisiana Republican Is Cattle-Smuggler's Attorney; Cattlemen Fear New Outbreak Of Hoof-And-Mouth Disease; Administration Bungling Upset President

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson, writing from the Midwest, contributes another column on the farm situation and the reason farmers are sore.)

KANSAS CITY — Cattlemen all over the South and West are raw and bleeding these days from a drought which no man could prevent and from cascading prices which they think a certain man in Washington might have slowed up.

On top of all this, salt has been rubbed in their wounds by one of the most notorious floutings of the cattle-smuggling laws in the history of the nation, plus the failure of the Eisenhower administration to do anything about it.

Adding to it all is the fact that Ike's host in New Orlean's, Attorney John Minor Wisdom, a power in Republican politics, is the man defending the cattle smuggler. So far he has been miraculously successful.

The scandal involves the smuggling of $1,000,000 worth of prize cattle from Mexico into Louisiana last May. The man arrested for the smuggling is Alphe A. Broussard of Lafayette, La., who, despite a ban by the Mexican government, purchased 65 head of Charolais cattle, originally bred in France, and smuggled them across the Rio Grand near El Paso.

From this point the cattle were trucked in a criss-cross route across Texas to Southern Louisiana, then by truck another 200 miles to Tensas Parish in Northern Louisiana.

Hoof-And-Mouth Disease

The anger of Southwest cattlemen over the smuggled herd is caused first by the fact that they came from a hoof-and-mouth-disease part of Mexico; second, by the fact that not a single step has been taken to punish the offenders.

Though most of Mexico was taken of the hoof-and-mouth disease infected list in 1952, one area still is quarantined — Pueblo. The Charolais cattle came from Pueblo. Not only did the Mexican government refuse to permit their export, but no attempt was made to get permission from American authorities.

As a result, protests have poured in on the Agriculture Department, from cattlemen and state veterinarians as far away as New Jersey, pointing out that millions of dollars have been spent slaughtering American cattle herds in the past when they become infected with hoof-and-mouth disease; also that a revolution threatened in Mexico when the United States demanded the slaughter of Mexico's infected herds, even though U. S. taxpayers paid millions to Mexico to compensate for the slaughter.

However, nothing has happened. A. A. Boussard, owner of the herd, was arrested June 4 and released on $2,000 bond. Since then no move has been made to prosecute him.

Powerful Friend of Ike's

Reason may be that Boussard was smart enough to retain as his attorney Ike's best friend in Louisiana, John Minor Wisdom. One of the ablest and most charming attorneys in the South, Wisdom swung the Louisiana delegation to Ike at the Chicago convention and, since the election, was given the job of building up the Republican party in Louisiana.

One of the first things Wisdom did was appoint his friend, Theodore Lyons, as collector of customs in New Orleans. Mr. Lyons took the oath of office July 6, just after Boussard was arrested for cattle smuggling. It is Commissioner Lyons' duty to help prosecute any violation of the smuggling laws.

Shortly thereafter, Mr. Wisdom appointed his friend, T. Fitzhugh Wilson, as U. S. attorney in Shreveport. This is the district where the smuggled cattle are now peacefully grazing, unaware that they have stirred up such a furor in the cattleman's world. It is also the district where Broussard would be prosecuted. But no move for prosecution has been made by Wisdom's friend, U. S. Attorney Wilson.

Naturally, a lot of cattlemen throughout the Southwest are asking why.

NOTE — The controversial Charolais are quarantined near Lafayette on rolling land drained by a creek emptying into the Vermilion River, which for 40 miles to the Gulf of Mexico is lined by pasture land and cattle ranches—ideal for the spread of hoof-and-mouth disease.

Ike's Stomach Cramps

More light can now be shed on the reasons for thePresident's recent case of "intestinal flu."

Actually it wasn't intestinal flu so much as concern over the bungling statements on the hydrogen bomb that got Ike's insides twisted up in knots. The President was simply furious over the way his cabinet colleagues turned operation candor into operation confusion. The result was a case of cramps, brought on in turn by nerves.

The President had relaxed the strict discipline on atomic-hydrogen news in hope of enlightening the public. Instead, his insubordinates came out with a rash of conflicting reports which only confused the public more. Nothing, according to White House insiders, has caused Ike to be more upset.

He was so rankled that he lectured the National Security Council like a Dutch uncle. The stunned policy makers sat meekly and listened like chastened children. In the end, he ordered everyone to keep his mouth shut on atomic matters unless statements are cleared by Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission.

By the end of the week, the President had worked himself into such a stew that he came down with stomach cramps. It isn't the first time that nervous strain has had a similar effect.

Money-Makers

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW BOSTON, N. H. — When William L. Douglas of Brockton, Mass., was the world's largest shoe manufacturer, he was a client of mine. Those were the days when everyone wore high shoes, and he was very much disturbed about the hooks which went on these shoes. At a sales convention he offered a prize of $10,000 to any salesman who would solve the problems of these dangerous hooks. One salesman answered: "Quit making high shoes, and eliminate the hooks altogether. If you will make a line of attractive low shoes, I will sell them or resign." Mr. Douglas accepted this radical wager and produced the line of low shoes, which this salesman quickly sold. Gradually, the whole industry turned to low shoes.

Most Of Us Are Dumbbells

I often visited Thomas A. Edison at his home in New Jersey. At that time his company was manufacturing the only phonograph "records," and these were waxed cylinders. He would say to me that some day flat records would be used; but he could not get any enthusiasm amongst the trade to sell flat records. He said: "Babson, I am only an inventor, and not a salesman. The salesmen and advertising agencies will determine the future of America—not we inventors. There are enough inventions in the Patent Office now to make the United States, and, in fact, the whole world, prosperous for 50 years if there were enough men with 'guts' and vision to get these ideas working."

Edison reminded me that steam was used for power a hundred years before Watt developed a steam engine. It was discussed by university professors; but no one before had the persistence to sell the idea to the public. This was true of Whitney's invention of the cotton gin, and Fulton's building of the steamboat. I believe that these men were salesmen who saw opportunities, presented them to the public and were never discouraged by anyone saying "no."

Long-Playing Records

My friend, Johnson, who founded the Victor Phonograph Company, was not an inventor, but a salesman. He believed the flat record idea had a future, but he was obliged to travel over the whole country to raise enough money to start the Victor organization. He used to complain about how "dumb" people were, unwilling to risk even their time, enthusiasm and stick-to-itiveness. His wonderful success was due to the fact that he was a salesman who could not be discouraged and would never take "no" for an answer. He was much like Henry Ford.

Yet even Johnson did not visualize long-playing records. Victor's original records could have been "long playing." The fact that Victor for years sold the old-fashioned records also shows how "dumb" we all are. Another illustration is the zipper. When I was at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology 50 years ago an instructor outlined to me the idea of the zipper; but we continued to button up our trousers in the old-fashioned way for 25 years thereafter!

Opportunities For Salesmen

Sunday newspapers today carry many help wanted advertisements for "technicians — electronic engineers — mechanics." These are needed today in connection with new government orders. As a result, high school graduates are crowding the colleges for a technical education. To train now for "electronics" is much like buying stocks when the market is at an all-time high. It is another illustration of our dumbness.

The real opportunities of the next decade will be in connection with selling the new ideas which are now on drawing boards and in test tubes. Hence, were I a young man today, I would take a course in business administration. Successful salesmanship, however, is a very difficult and tedious task. It requires great courage and tremendous persistency. There are no opportunities in business administration for the pencil pusher or the clock watcher. Success comes not from sitting in a chair dictating letters to a blonde secretary, but by ringing door bells and wearing out shoe leather. Salesmanship offers the greatest opportunities and richest rewards; but the road is long and rocky.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Where Is The Money To Come From?

WASHINGTON

It will be a strange turn of events if the first Republican administration in 20 years ends its first term in office with the heaviest deficits in peace-time history. Yet the logic of the situation in which the Eisenhower administration finds itself is beginning to point rather clearly in this direction.

Some days ago, the top government policy-making body, the National Security Council, met to consider the level of the national defense effort, in the light of the Soviet hydrogen bomb. No final decision on defense spending was, apparently, taken but the trend is suggested by the fact that the danger implicit in the growing Soviet air-atomic threat was officially determined to be "absolute." Moreover, the council agreed at least in principle that continental defense must have a very high priority, and that a major continental defense effort, stretching over a period of several years, must be undertaken.'

This meeting occurred after Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson had predicted at a press conference that defense spending in the next fiscal year — 1955 — could be held to something like $2,000,000,000 less than current spending. Whether this prediction is to be revised in view of the National Security Council decison remains to be seen. But the fact is that even a $2,000,000,000 reduction in defense spending is much less than Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, and other administration policy-makers hoped for. It is not many weeks since the talk in the Defense and Treasury Departments was all about reducing defense expenditures by $6,000,000,000 or more.

Eisenhower Killed Proposal

Moreover, the Security Council decision, if it is acted upon obviously involves a continued very heavy level of defense spending throughout President Eisenhower's first term. This raises the question: where is the money to come from?

Treasury experts who have been trying to find an answer to this question find themselves blocked at every turn. For a time, they rather longingly considered a federal retail sales tax. But careful congressional soundings indicated that this was politically impractical, and President Eisenhower has now killed the proposal once and for all.

He has been careful not to kill an alternative proposal, a manufacturers' sales tax, imposed at the source on manufactured articles. Yet this alternative, although it may not be dead, certainly looks moribund. For one thing, a manufacturers' tax generates almost as much political opposition as a federal retail sales tax. For another, such a tax simply will not do the budget-balancing job, unless it is set at impossibly high levels.

The budget deficit for the next fiscal year is estimated at $7,000,000,000, or at the very best $5,000,000,000. And even the higher figure involves a number of optimistic assumptions. It assumes that defense spending is actually cut by at least $2,000,000,000. It assumes that heavy cuts can safely be made elsewhere, for example in foreign aid. It assumes that the administration can forestall the reductions in excise and corporation taxes scheduled to take place automatically in April — no easy job. And it assumes, finally, that there will be no fall-off whatsoever in the level of business activity and national income.

One Answer Remains

The Treasury experts have concluded that a manufacturers' sales tax will gain in revenue no more than $800,000,000 for each one per cent of tax. Thus to make up even $5,000,000,000 in revenue, in order to bridge the budget gap, would require a manufacturers' tax of upwards of six per cent. Because of the pyramiding effect of retail mark-ups, moreover, the consumer would pay more than this, by a considerable margin. Every voter is, after all, a consumer. It is not hard to imagine the political reaction in Congress and the country if the administration proposed to hit the consumer such a wallop, in an election year.

So the question—where is the money to come from—remains unanswered, unless the answer is to be found in further deficits for a long time to come. Secretary Humphrey deeply believes that deficit financing, by cheapening the dollar, constitutes in itself the most cruel, dangerous, and regressive form of taxation. He has, nevertheless, taken the stand that the national economy can take big deficits—for a time—on an emergency basis. But he asked for assurances from the Joint Chiefs of Staff that, once the emergency investment in defense is made, defense spending will then level off, permitting a soundly balanced economy.

The Joint Chiefs, however, simply cannot give much assurances, with the prospect looming on the horizon of a Soviet ballistic missile wedded to a decisive Soviet hydrogen-atomic stockpile. Thus the fiscal dilemma which confronts the Eisenhower administration is complete. In this dilemma, it begins to look as though the administration will choose the evil of a budget heavily unbalanced for an indefinite period, as against the evil of threatened national devastation. There is hardly, in fact, any other choice the administration can make.

These Days

The Trieste Episode

Nationalism remains the strongest mass motive in Europe and Asia. Only in the United States does internationalism find a popular following. No European statesman can stand before his countrymen who ignores this nationalistic sentiment. Since the end of World War II, nationalistic propaganda has been intensified among every people except the American. The Trieste problem can only be understood if viewed from this standpoint.

For several centuries, Trieste was the chief port of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. It was an ancient city, founded perhaps at the time of the Emperor Vespasian of the Roman Empire. At that time it was inhabited by Celts and Illyrian tribes. In the course of history, Italians, Slovenes and Austro-Germans settled in Trieste and the population became, as in most cities, an assimilation of many races of man. The present resulting breed regards itself principally as Italian with a large Solvene minority.

The Adriatic has at times been an Italian sea. That is not so today. Trieste lies in Yugoslav territory, part of the Istrian Peninsula, which has, in its long history, been held by the Roman Empire, by Venice, by the Austro-Hungarian Empire, by Italy and by Yugoslavia. Trieste, being an excellent port, was at one time of great commercial value; to Austria it was tremendously important because it was the only Austrian outlet to the Adrian and the Mediterranean. That importance does not exist today, either for Yugoslavia or for Italy. Venice is, of course, a better Italian port and the Yugoslavs possess Fiume (now called Rijeka) and a long coastline. Trieste is today not a place to fight over, but nationalism is.

On the other hand, Trieste was given to Italy by the Treaty of Paris in 1919 and was made into a Free City in 1947. Here is a dot on the map which has for many years been a serious international problem, because the Italians claim it as an Italian-speaking city; the Yugoslavs claim it because it is geographically part of Yugoslavia. And anyone can start a fight and be called a liar by saying that it is Italian or Yugoslavian, depending on who is in the audience.

Now appear two other problems: Tito has, since his break with the Russians, been building a Balkan federation. In this effort, he has made considerable progress with Greece and Turkey. He has been resisted in Bulgaria, Romania and Albania, but in each of these countries there are Titoist elements. As a matter of fact, the movement for a Balkan federation after World War II started in Bulgaria under Georgi Dimitrov, head of the Third International, who somehow died in the Kremlin after being instructed that he had made an error.

Tito has been gaining strength because of the cordiality shown to him by Great Britain and the United States, which added to his prestige, even in the satellite countries. Tito's difficulty now is that when the United States gives Italy a zone in Trieste, Tito's prestige suffers some damage. He knows that the Kremlin can take advantage of this situation to attack him in his own country where the people are extremely nationalistic and anti-Italian. He had been looking forward to a break-away by a satellite state.

On the other hand, the last election in Italy showed that American prestige had fallen in that country since 1948. The pro-American Premier DeGasperi was virtually defeated and ultimately removed from power. The Italian Communist party is enormously strong and curiously enough, it is nationalistic. The present government in Italy, under Giuseppe Pella, is not sufficiently strong and needs some kind of victory. Pressure is put upon it to join the European Defense Community, which is not absolutely necessary for Italy but Italy is needed by E. D. C. While it might be of some profit for Italy to join, the Communists object and they can unseat the government.

So the United States makes the move of giving a zone in Trieste to Italy, which strengthens Pella and may make it possible for him to put over membership in EDC but weakens Tito, whom we also need if Soviet Russia is not to be on the Adriatic.

World leadership sure has got us into quandaries, problems, imponderables and uncertainties. And it all costs money and keeps American boys away from home.

Churchill And The Bomb

To Sir Winston Churchill the temptation must be strong to scoop the ball from American hands and run with it—the ball in this context being an overture to Soviet Russia on peace, the hydrogen bomb, and disarmament. Indeed, just three days before Churchill's Margate speech, a British source saw fit to deny that the prime minister was prepared to go to Moscow to arrange with Premier Malenkov a future four-power conference.

The statement was in the form of a demurrer against a charge made on September 26 by Tom O'Brien, Laborite M. P. but an admirer of Churchill, that the prime minister was being held back from four-power talks by "American reluctance on the one hand and Russian reticence on the other." Laborites less friendly to Churchill, including former Prime Minister Attlee, have accused him of not sufficiently pushing a four-power conference.

Churchill, back in action after a long rest, is overdue for a strong bid for public support of his party and his foreign policy. The bid would be made against a background of growing British — and European — criticism of the "rigidity" of American policy toward Russia, and of the new situation created by Russia's possession of at least the means of exploding a hydrogen bomb.

One British attitude is reflected by an editorial in the August 22 London Economist: "It is bad tactics to define one's intentions too strictly in advance—in effect, to tear up good cards before playing the hand . . . Above all, in the present international atmosphere it is bad tactics to present oneself as the less reasonable party. Mr. Eisenhower has allowed his subordinates to commit all these errors, apparently in the name of firmness."

Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of State, took occasion to welcome new and "not inflexible" U. S. views on disarmament in a speech to the U. N. General Assembly on September 24. Lloyd continued: "I only wish we could have some indication of flexibility or novelty in the Soviet Union's disarmament proposals." Lloyd has since returned to England for conferences with Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

Sir Winston is understandably influenced by the position of other members of the British Commonwealth on peace and the hydrogen bomb. In proposing an international "player" on peace on September 28, V. K. K. Menon of India also called on the U. N. General Assembly "to declare itself in favor of the non-use of these weapons (atomic and hydrogen bombs) for destructive purposes."

A new idea for breaking the deadlock on atomic control was put forth by Sir Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the United States, in a talk in New York on October 6. His solution: an agreement that on a stipulated date "the use of atomic and hydrogen bombs and weapons shall be prohibited." But Sir Percy added a powerful caveat—"provided that in the meantime effective systems of control and inspection are able not only to be agreed to but also put into effect."

These and other British and Commonwealth statements seemed not to have influenced basic U. S. policy on the bomb, beyond Secretary of State Dulles' pledge on October 6 that, "We are not going to allow ourselves to be discouraged as long as there is any possibility of finding a way of easing tensions . . . particularly having regard to the growing, mounting peril that there is in the new weapons."

Living With H-Bomb

Word has gone out from the White House that the American people are to be told more about the hydrogen bomb and what it means to them. The result, for the moment, is a welter of confusion, with officials sounding off all over the place.

Meanwhile Senator Hickenlooper doubts the value of further revelations. The public already knows the fundamental facts, he says—to reveal more might endanger security. He may be right, but the administration's purpose is sound.

Most persons still talk and think about world problems as if not even the A-bomb had been invented. Old habits of thinking die hard, so the administration has concluded that the American people need to live more closely with the idea of superweapons to foster synchronization of thinking with realities.

It doesn't really matter that Gordon Dean, former Atomic Energy Commission chairman, thinks Russia will have the power to destroy America in a year or two, while Defense Secretary Wilson thinks it will take three or four years.

It's not important that Civil Defense Administrator Peterson paints horrendous pictures of immediate destruction and Defense Mobilization Director Fleming thinks Russia can now hit the U. S. suddenly, without warning, with H-bombs, and they are backed up, more or less, by Chairman Cole of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. If these men are overestimating Russia's destructive potential at the moment, they may be describing accurately what it will be one, or two, or five years from now.

The administraton doesn't want the public scared to death, but it wants the fact to be calmly understood that for the first time this country is vulnerable to bombs.

Sanity may be the price of survival.

Fewer Reds In France

Communism, says former Premier Antoine Pinay, no longer offers a serious internal threat in France. This sounds as if Pinay is simply whistling in the Tuileries. Those on this side of the Atlantic find it difficult to believe that the threat has shrunk so small, remembering the crippling strikes last summer and the current attempt of the Reds to cripple government in France by trying to lure the Socialists into another united front like the one that devitalized French defenses before World War II.

It is obvious, however, that the Reds have lost some ground in France. As Pinay points out, since 1945 membership in the Communist party in that country has dropped from more than 1,000,000 to 400,000. In the same eight-year span, circulation of Red newspapers published in France has slipped from 2,700,000 to 800,000.

But even as few as 400,000 Reds can exert considerable leverage—especially when aided and abetted by millions of fellow travelers—on French politics as long as France clings to a constitution which leaves the responsibilities of government to weak and unstable coalitions of numerous minority groups.

How To Keep Well

Indigestion Takes Many Forms

Biliousness is an old fashioned term used by grandma to explain her bouts of nausea, vomiting, headache, and a heavy sensation in "the pit of the stomach." Her tongue was furred and the associated constipation was given as much blame as the bile she vomited. Actually, neither was responsible.

Grandma's digestion was disturbed from eating tainted food or too many rich dishes. There also is a possibility that she was overtired from too much work or excitement, or upset emotionally. At any rate, we can be certain that whatever affected her digestion also produced headache and constipation. The bile in the vomitus which attracted most of the attention was a natural occurence. This substance slips into the gastric pouch whenever the stomach and intestine go into reverse.

When acute indigestion develops in children it is natural to think of appendicitis or the onset of sore throat or respiratory infection; but there is just as good a chance that fatigue or excitement is responsible. If so, the majority are as good as new after a full night's sleep. Baking soda, peppermint water, tea, or ginger ale usually help nausea and if the boy or girl wants something to eat he may have a piece of toast or a bowl of cereal to hold him over until morning.

Acute indigestion in adults may result from a disorder of the stomach, gall bladder, or appendix. Associated symptoms generally are present, however, and more expert care is required than a home remedy or one that is bought over the counter at the drug store. On the other hand, when overindulgence in food or drink is to blame, the condition seldom needs treatment, as it is transient. If nausea persists, drinking hot tea, salted bouillon, or an antacid or alkaline water such as vichy will help. Sometimes relief is obtained by eating an absorbent substance such as dry toast or salted soda crackers. Sedatives, antispasmodics, and ulcer medications also are useful, more so when "biliousness" has become chronic. These products have their drawbacks, however, because all too often the chronic sufferer places too much reliance on the remedy and neglects to track down the cause.

Dyspepsia, another form of indigestion, usually is associated with abdominal discomfort, gas, belching, water brash, and appetite disturbances. The stomach appears to be at fault but in most instances the origin is non-gastric. Worry is a common cause. Eating too fast or at irregular intervals also contributes, as well as overwork or overindulgence in alcohol. Swallowing air is another offender. Dyspepsia, like biliousness, may respond to soda and other antacids but when symptoms persist investigation is necessary.

There are many forms of indigestion. Now and then it is the first sign of uremia, heart failure, angina pectoris, or arterioscerosis. Too much acid is a possibility and this can be determined by testing the gastric contents. When there is an excess, discomfort is at its height while the meal is being digested. But too little acid may lead to the same manifestations and here relief is obtained by taking dilute hydrochloric acid.

SNEEZE STOPPER

J. J. K. writes: I have discovered a way to suppress a sneeze. I put my handkerchief up to my nose when I feel a sneeze coming on and press with thumb and forefinger. I believe that educating the public to use my system will help check the spread of colds and other infections.

REPLY

There's no harm in preventing a sneeze but once it is inevitable, the reflex should not be suppressed, especially by pinching the nose. The pressure created within the nasal cavity by this maneuver may drive infected secretions into the ears or sinuses. Covering the mouth with hand or handkerchief will present the sneezer from spraying his associates.

SLEEPING POSTURE

E. P. writes: I like to sleep on my tummy, but someone told me that this is injurious to the breasts and, in addition, was the explanation of the small size of bust. Is this just a crazy idea?

REPLY

Yes. The size of the breasts has nothing to do with the sleeping posture. Most people sleep on the side, but to my knowledge no one has ever proved that sleeping on the back or the stomach affects health in any way.

SHOCK THERAPY RESULTS

L. E. writes: Is the electroshock treatment helpful in schizophrenia?

REPLY

Yes, particularly in the early stage of the mental disease, in one series of 112 cases, 60 per cent were improved or much improved. The results depend upon the age, the duration of the illness, and the type of onset (gradual or sudden).

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Top Louisiana Republican Is Cattle-Smuggler's Attorney; Cattlemen Fear New Outbreak Of Hoof-And-Mouth Disease; Administration Bungling Upset President

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson, writing from the Midwest, contributes another column on the farm situation and the reason farmers are sore.)

KANSAS CITY — Cattlemen all over the South and West are raw and bleeding these days from a drought which no man could prevent and from cascading prices which they think a certain man in Washington might have slowed up.

On top of all this, salt has been rubbed in their wounds by one of the most notorious floutings of the cattle-smuggling laws in the history of the nation, plus the failure of the Eisenhower administration to do anything about it.

Adding to it all is the fact that Ike's host in New Orlean's, Attorney John Minor Wisdom, a power in Republican politics, is the man defending the cattle smuggler. So far he has been miraculously successful.

The scandal involves the smuggling of $1,000,000 worth of prize cattle from Mexico into Louisiana last May. The man arrested for the smuggling is Alphe A. Broussard of Lafayette, La., who, despite a ban by the Mexican government, purchased 65 head of Charolais cattle, originally bred in France, and smuggled them across the Rio Grand near El Paso.

From this point the cattle were trucked in a criss-cross route across Texas to Southern Louisiana, then by truck another 200 miles to Tensas Parish in Northern Louisiana.

Hoof-And-Mouth Disease

The anger of Southwest cattlemen over the smuggled herd is caused first by the fact that they came from a hoof-and-mouth-disease part of Mexico; second, by the fact that not a single step has been taken to punish the offenders.

Though most of Mexico was taken of the hoof-and-mouth disease infected list in 1952, one area still is quarantined — Pueblo. The Charolais cattle came from Pueblo. Not only did the Mexican government refuse to permit their export, but no attempt was made to get permission from American authorities.

As a result, protests have poured in on the Agriculture Department, from cattlemen and state veterinarians as far away as New Jersey, pointing out that millions of dollars have been spent slaughtering American cattle herds in the past when they become infected with hoof-and-mouth disease; also that a revolution threatened in Mexico when the United States demanded the slaughter of Mexico's infected herds, even though U. S. taxpayers paid millions to Mexico to compensate for the slaughter.

However, nothing has happened. A. A. Boussard, owner of the herd, was arrested June 4 and released on $2,000 bond. Since then no move has been made to prosecute him.

Powerful Friend of Ike's

Reason may be that Boussard was smart enough to retain as his attorney Ike's best friend in Louisiana, John Minor Wisdom. One of the ablest and most charming attorneys in the South, Wisdom swung the Louisiana delegation to Ike at the Chicago convention and, since the election, was given the job of building up the Republican party in Louisiana.

One of the first things Wisdom did was appoint his friend, Theodore Lyons, as collector of customs in New Orleans. Mr. Lyons took the oath of office July 6, just after Boussard was arrested for cattle smuggling. It is Commissioner Lyons' duty to help prosecute any violation of the smuggling laws.

Shortly thereafter, Mr. Wisdom appointed his friend, T. Fitzhugh Wilson, as U. S. attorney in Shreveport. This is the district where the smuggled cattle are now peacefully grazing, unaware that they have stirred up such a furor in the cattleman's world. It is also the district where Broussard would be prosecuted. But no move for prosecution has been made by Wisdom's friend, U. S. Attorney Wilson.

Naturally, a lot of cattlemen throughout the Southwest are asking why.

NOTE — The controversial Charolais are quarantined near Lafayette on rolling land drained by a creek emptying into the Vermilion River, which for 40 miles to the Gulf of Mexico is lined by pasture land and cattle ranches—ideal for the spread of hoof-and-mouth disease.

Ike's Stomach Cramps

More light can now be shed on the reasons for thePresident's recent case of "intestinal flu."

Actually it wasn't intestinal flu so much as concern over the bungling statements on the hydrogen bomb that got Ike's insides twisted up in knots. The President was simply furious over the way his cabinet colleagues turned operation candor into operation confusion. The result was a case of cramps, brought on in turn by nerves.

The President had relaxed the strict discipline on atomic-hydrogen news in hope of enlightening the public. Instead, his insubordinates came out with a rash of conflicting reports which only confused the public more. Nothing, according to White House insiders, has caused Ike to be more upset.

He was so rankled that he lectured the National Security Council like a Dutch uncle. The stunned policy makers sat meekly and listened like chastened children. In the end, he ordered everyone to keep his mouth shut on atomic matters unless statements are cleared by Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission.

By the end of the week, the President had worked himself into such a stew that he came down with stomach cramps. It isn't the first time that nervous strain has had a similar effect.

Money-Makers

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW BOSTON, N. H. — When William L. Douglas of Brockton, Mass., was the world's largest shoe manufacturer, he was a client of mine. Those were the days when everyone wore high shoes, and he was very much disturbed about the hooks which went on these shoes. At a sales convention he offered a prize of $10,000 to any salesman who would solve the problems of these dangerous hooks. One salesman answered: "Quit making high shoes, and eliminate the hooks altogether. If you will make a line of attractive low shoes, I will sell them or resign." Mr. Douglas accepted this radical wager and produced the line of low shoes, which this salesman quickly sold. Gradually, the whole industry turned to low shoes.

Most Of Us Are Dumbbells

I often visited Thomas A. Edison at his home in New Jersey. At that time his company was manufacturing the only phonograph "records," and these were waxed cylinders. He would say to me that some day flat records would be used; but he could not get any enthusiasm amongst the trade to sell flat records. He said: "Babson, I am only an inventor, and not a salesman. The salesmen and advertising agencies will determine the future of America—not we inventors. There are enough inventions in the Patent Office now to make the United States, and, in fact, the whole world, prosperous for 50 years if there were enough men with 'guts' and vision to get these ideas working."

Edison reminded me that steam was used for power a hundred years before Watt developed a steam engine. It was discussed by university professors; but no one before had the persistence to sell the idea to the public. This was true of Whitney's invention of the cotton gin, and Fulton's building of the steamboat. I believe that these men were salesmen who saw opportunities, presented them to the public and were never discouraged by anyone saying "no."

Long-Playing Records

My friend, Johnson, who founded the Victor Phonograph Company, was not an inventor, but a salesman. He believed the flat record idea had a future, but he was obliged to travel over the whole country to raise enough money to start the Victor organization. He used to complain about how "dumb" people were, unwilling to risk even their time, enthusiasm and stick-to-itiveness. His wonderful success was due to the fact that he was a salesman who could not be discouraged and would never take "no" for an answer. He was much like Henry Ford.

Yet even Johnson did not visualize long-playing records. Victor's original records could have been "long playing." The fact that Victor for years sold the old-fashioned records also shows how "dumb" we all are. Another illustration is the zipper. When I was at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology 50 years ago an instructor outlined to me the idea of the zipper; but we continued to button up our trousers in the old-fashioned way for 25 years thereafter!

Opportunities For Salesmen

Sunday newspapers today carry many help wanted advertisements for "technicians — electronic engineers — mechanics." These are needed today in connection with new government orders. As a result, high school graduates are crowding the colleges for a technical education. To train now for "electronics" is much like buying stocks when the market is at an all-time high. It is another illustration of our dumbness.

The real opportunities of the next decade will be in connection with selling the new ideas which are now on drawing boards and in test tubes. Hence, were I a young man today, I would take a course in business administration. Successful salesmanship, however, is a very difficult and tedious task. It requires great courage and tremendous persistency. There are no opportunities in business administration for the pencil pusher or the clock watcher. Success comes not from sitting in a chair dictating letters to a blonde secretary, but by ringing door bells and wearing out shoe leather. Salesmanship offers the greatest opportunities and richest rewards; but the road is long and rocky.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Where Is The Money To Come From?

WASHINGTON

It will be a strange turn of events if the first Republican administration in 20 years ends its first term in office with the heaviest deficits in peace-time history. Yet the logic of the situation in which the Eisenhower administration finds itself is beginning to point rather clearly in this direction.

Some days ago, the top government policy-making body, the National Security Council, met to consider the level of the national defense effort, in the light of the Soviet hydrogen bomb. No final decision on defense spending was, apparently, taken but the trend is suggested by the fact that the danger implicit in the growing Soviet air-atomic threat was officially determined to be "absolute." Moreover, the council agreed at least in principle that continental defense must have a very high priority, and that a major continental defense effort, stretching over a period of several years, must be undertaken.'

This meeting occurred after Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson had predicted at a press conference that defense spending in the next fiscal year — 1955 — could be held to something like $2,000,000,000 less than current spending. Whether this prediction is to be revised in view of the National Security Council decison remains to be seen. But the fact is that even a $2,000,000,000 reduction in defense spending is much less than Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, and other administration policy-makers hoped for. It is not many weeks since the talk in the Defense and Treasury Departments was all about reducing defense expenditures by $6,000,000,000 or more.

Eisenhower Killed Proposal

Moreover, the Security Council decision, if it is acted upon obviously involves a continued very heavy level of defense spending throughout President Eisenhower's first term. This raises the question: where is the money to come from?

Treasury experts who have been trying to find an answer to this question find themselves blocked at every turn. For a time, they rather longingly considered a federal retail sales tax. But careful congressional soundings indicated that this was politically impractical, and President Eisenhower has now killed the proposal once and for all.

He has been careful not to kill an alternative proposal, a manufacturers' sales tax, imposed at the source on manufactured articles. Yet this alternative, although it may not be dead, certainly looks moribund. For one thing, a manufacturers' tax generates almost as much political opposition as a federal retail sales tax. For another, such a tax simply will not do the budget-balancing job, unless it is set at impossibly high levels.

The budget deficit for the next fiscal year is estimated at $7,000,000,000, or at the very best $5,000,000,000. And even the higher figure involves a number of optimistic assumptions. It assumes that defense spending is actually cut by at least $2,000,000,000. It assumes that heavy cuts can safely be made elsewhere, for example in foreign aid. It assumes that the administration can forestall the reductions in excise and corporation taxes scheduled to take place automatically in April — no easy job. And it assumes, finally, that there will be no fall-off whatsoever in the level of business activity and national income.

One Answer Remains

The Treasury experts have concluded that a manufacturers' sales tax will gain in revenue no more than $800,000,000 for each one per cent of tax. Thus to make up even $5,000,000,000 in revenue, in order to bridge the budget gap, would require a manufacturers' tax of upwards of six per cent. Because of the pyramiding effect of retail mark-ups, moreover, the consumer would pay more than this, by a considerable margin. Every voter is, after all, a consumer. It is not hard to imagine the political reaction in Congress and the country if the administration proposed to hit the consumer such a wallop, in an election year.

So the question—where is the money to come from—remains unanswered, unless the answer is to be found in further deficits for a long time to come. Secretary Humphrey deeply believes that deficit financing, by cheapening the dollar, constitutes in itself the most cruel, dangerous, and regressive form of taxation. He has, nevertheless, taken the stand that the national economy can take big deficits—for a time—on an emergency basis. But he asked for assurances from the Joint Chiefs of Staff that, once the emergency investment in defense is made, defense spending will then level off, permitting a soundly balanced economy.

The Joint Chiefs, however, simply cannot give much assurances, with the prospect looming on the horizon of a Soviet ballistic missile wedded to a decisive Soviet hydrogen-atomic stockpile. Thus the fiscal dilemma which confronts the Eisenhower administration is complete. In this dilemma, it begins to look as though the administration will choose the evil of a budget heavily unbalanced for an indefinite period, as against the evil of threatened national devastation. There is hardly, in fact, any other choice the administration can make.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Trieste Episode

Nationalism remains the strongest mass motive in Europe and Asia. Only in the United States does internationalism find a popular following. No European statesman can stand before his countrymen who ignores this nationalistic sentiment. Since the end of World War II, nationalistic propaganda has been intensified among every people except the American. The Trieste problem can only be understood if viewed from this standpoint.

For several centuries, Trieste was the chief port of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. It was an ancient city, founded perhaps at the time of the Emperor Vespasian of the Roman Empire. At that time it was inhabited by Celts and Illyrian tribes. In the course of history, Italians, Slovenes and Austro-Germans settled in Trieste and the population became, as in most cities, an assimilation of many races of man. The present resulting breed regards itself principally as Italian with a large Solvene minority.

The Adriatic has at times been an Italian sea. That is not so today. Trieste lies in Yugoslav territory, part of the Istrian Peninsula, which has, in its long history, been held by the Roman Empire, by Venice, by the Austro-Hungarian Empire, by Italy and by Yugoslavia. Trieste, being an excellent port, was at one time of great commercial value; to Austria it was tremendously important because it was the only Austrian outlet to the Adrian and the Mediterranean. That importance does not exist today, either for Yugoslavia or for Italy. Venice is, of course, a better Italian port and the Yugoslavs possess Fiume (now called Rijeka) and a long coastline. Trieste is today not a place to fight over, but nationalism is.

On the other hand, Trieste was given to Italy by the Treaty of Paris in 1919 and was made into a Free City in 1947. Here is a dot on the map which has for many years been a serious international problem, because the Italians claim it as an Italian-speaking city; the Yugoslavs claim it because it is geographically part of Yugoslavia. And anyone can start a fight and be called a liar by saying that it is Italian or Yugoslavian, depending on who is in the audience.

Now appear two other problems: Tito has, since his break with the Russians, been building a Balkan federation. In this effort, he has made considerable progress with Greece and Turkey. He has been resisted in Bulgaria, Romania and Albania, but in each of these countries there are Titoist elements. As a matter of fact, the movement for a Balkan federation after World War II started in Bulgaria under Georgi Dimitrov, head of the Third International, who somehow died in the Kremlin after being instructed that he had made an error.

Tito has been gaining strength because of the cordiality shown to him by Great Britain and the United States, which added to his prestige, even in the satellite countries. Tito's difficulty now is that when the United States gives Italy a zone in Trieste, Tito's prestige suffers some damage. He knows that the Kremlin can take advantage of this situation to attack him in his own country where the people are extremely nationalistic and anti-Italian. He had been looking forward to a break-away by a satellite state.

On the other hand, the last election in Italy showed that American prestige had fallen in that country since 1948. The pro-American Premier DeGasperi was virtually defeated and ultimately removed from power. The Italian Communist party is enormously strong and curiously enough, it is nationalistic. The present government in Italy, under Giuseppe Pella, is not sufficiently strong and needs some kind of victory. Pressure is put upon it to join the European Defense Community, which is not absolutely necessary for Italy but Italy is needed by E. D. C. While it might be of some profit for Italy to join, the Communists object and they can unseat the government.

So the United States makes the move of giving a zone in Trieste to Italy, which strengthens Pella and may make it possible for him to put over membership in EDC but weakens Tito, whom we also need if Soviet Russia is not to be on the Adriatic.

World leadership sure has got us into quandaries, problems, imponderables and uncertainties. And it all costs money and keeps American boys away from home.

Too Many Parties System Dangerous

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover hit today at multi-party government systems in Western Europe as the type which led previously to dictatorship and loss of freedom.

He extolled the American system with two major parties, and told the nation's young people it would endure only if "there is a willingness to serve it at a sacrifice."

"And it will not endure unless there be absolute honor in its officials," he said in an address, "Your inheritance," on the Ford Foundation Television Workshop program on NBC television and radio.

Man Is Accused Of Lying To Wed 14-Year-Old Girl

A young Pennsylvanian was arrested Saturday afternoon on charges of making a false statement to secure a marriage license here to wed a 14-year-old Flintstone girl.

The defendant, Dexter Rudolph Beck, 22, of RD 1, Chaneysville, Bedford County, is being held in the city lockup pending further action by the State's Attorney's office.

Beck was picked up by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya. A warrant for his apprehension stated that he did:

"On July 10, 1952 make a material false statement to procure a marriage license from the clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court by stating that the age of Dolores Eleanor Shreve was 19 when her true age was 14."

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason issued the warrant last Tuesday. Similar action against Beck was taken Saturday in Bedford by Justice of the Peace Sewell W. Rouzer.

On July 14, local authorities obtained a warrant charging Beck with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Pennsylvania law enforcement officers followed suit a week later and he was freed under $500 bond July 30.

In July, also, two-state warrants went on file for the arrest of the girl. When released July 30 on her own recognizance, she signed her name Dolores Eleanor (Shreve) Beck.

Jewish Welfare Fund Campaign To Open In Western Md. Nov. 22

Pierre Van Paassen, noted author, lecturer and Unitarian minister, will come to Cumberland November 22 to open the Jewish Welfare Fund Drive in Western Maryland, according to Robert Kaplon, secretary of the Board of Governors.

Preliminary plans for this year's drive have been completed by the Board which comprises Leonard C. Schwab, president; Irwin Pariser, vice president; George Ossip, treasurer, and Kaplon. Max Spear will be campaign chairman, in association with four co-chairmen—Dr. A. C. Eskin, Moe Sacks, Norman Pliner and Pariser. Mrs. Helen Kauffman will head the women's committee.

For several years the local Jewish Welfare Fund has participated in the National program of raising funds to meet the budget needs of the United Jewish Appeal. The local campaign will start with the "kick off" dinner in the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Sunday, November 22, to be prepared by Anton and served by a committee from the B'er Chayim Temple Sisterhood.

"The United Jewish Appeal," explained Kaplon, "is American Jewry's largest voluntary agency for support of urgent world wide immigration, settlement, welfare and rehabilitation programs on behalf of homeless, oppressed and destitute Jewish men, women and children. Faced with 1953 needs totalling over 144 million dollars, the United Jewish Appeal seeks the largest possible funds to help its three constitutent agencies, the Joint Distribution Committee, United Israel Appeal, and United Service for New Americans, to carry out the following programs ——to extend relief and welfare aid to Jewish refugees from Communist controlled countries of Eastern Europe and speed their resettlement in Israel and other havens: to provide vital welfare, settlement and rehabilitation aid to 500 thousand other dependent Jews, 300 thousand in Israel and the rest in Western Europe and tension ridden Moslem lands: to strengthen Israel by helping the young Democracy to speed the absorption of 240 thousand recent newcomers and to increase food production through the establishment of new farm settlements and the expansion or irrigation, and to furnish adjustment and settlement assistance to refugees coming to the United States."

Too Many Parties System Dangerous

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover hit today at multi-party government systems in Western Europe as the type which led previously to dictatorship and loss of freedom.

He extolled the American system with two major parties, and told the nation's young people it would endure only if "there is a willingness to serve it at a sacrifice."

"And it will not endure unless there be absolute honor in its officials," he said in an address, "Your inheritance," on the Ford Foundation Television Workshop program on NBC television and radio.

WATER SUPPLY BOOSTED — Chester Buser, Ridgeley, left, and David Dawson, Wiley Ford, are working on the well that supplies water for the Mt. Savage High School. Buser said they pumped 800 gallons of water in a 3-hour period Wednesday from the well shown on the photograph, and at the end of the 3-hour test there was still 60 feet of water in the well. He stated the recent water shortage was the result of the manner in which the casing was placed in the well. Buser said it was 70 feet from the bottom and that additional joints have been attached so the casing now rests 6 feet from the bottom of the well. According to Buser the present flow of the well will go a long way towards supplying the school with an ample water supply. The repairs to the well are in charge of the T. V. Carpenter Well-Drilling Company, of Cumberland.

The Petersburg Kiwanis Club was instrumental in contacting Schaffer and showing him the advantages of locating in Petersburg.

The American Legion building was purchased and the past several months have been spent in installing machinery and converting the building into a modern processing plant. All new and modern machinery was installed and the plant is capable of processing 5,000 New York dressed turkeys a day.

The management expects to stress quality, instead of quantity, due to the high type birds produced by local growers, and plan to spend more time processing and only produce around 3,000 turkeys a day.

Last Monday the plant opened with about 35 employes.

The turkeys used for the first week's operation were furnished by the Monarch Mills of Petersburg, and grown by William Inskeep of Medley. The Shawnee Milling Company of Petersburg, will furnish the turkeys for processing next week.

The operation starts when the birds are first put on the assembly pullies. They are then killed by an electric knife and their throats cut, the electric shock produced by the knife keeps the birds from fluttering and bruising after their throats have been cut. After being killed the assembly passes through a tank of hot water and the birds are thoroughly washed and pass on to the first of several picking machines. From the picking machines the birds are finished by hand and inspected several times before being put into the cooling tanks where they are kept seven hours before being packed in ice for shipping.

The birds are packed about seven or nine to each barrel for the large ones and about the same number of the smaller ones in boxes, in ice and shipped to the New York market. All birds processed are packed and shipped around 7 p.m. the same day processed and arrive in New York the next morning.

Kiwanians Plan To Take Children To Church Nov. 1

Adults Are Urged To Participate

KEYSER — Each member of Keyser Kiwanis Club has agreed to take from one to three or more children to places of worship on Sunday, November 1, which is being observed nationally as "Take a Kid To Worship" Sunday, according to Arnold Sliger, chairman of the club's committee on Support of Churches.

Dedicated to bringing young people closer to religion, the program is sponsored nationally by Kiwanis International and the National Kid's Day Foundation in cooperation with the November observance of "Religion in American Life."

"Hundreds of thousands of young people will be introduced or re-introduced to religion on Sunday, November 1," Sliger said. "It is our fervent hope that this will not be a one-day-a-year occasion, but, instead, will serve to interest countless youngsters in participating in religious activities the year 'round.

"The program is not designed to benefit one particular faith," Sliger continued, "it is intended to activate attendance by our young people to any house of worship of their choice."

All adults are urged to participate in the program by transporting children to worship places on November 1. It is expected that some local religious leaders will plan special programs to interest youth for the occasion.

Policeman Shot, Kills Armed Robber

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18 (AP)—A policeman was shot in downtown San Francisco today, fell to the street, whipped out his .38 and fatally wounded one of the four would-be robbers he had halted for questioning.

Although bleeding from a bullet wound in the thigh, Patrolman Edward Curtis kept a gun watch over both the dying man and another of the quartet until more officers arrived. The other two men later were captured.

Officers identified the victim as Jack R. Nichols, 24, a Muni bus driver and said he had mapped a plot for the four to hold up the Muni bus yard offices.

Buser said they pumped 800 gallons of water in a 3-hour period Wednesday from the well shown on the photograph, and at the end of the 3-hour test there was still 60 feet of water in the well. He stated the recent water shortage was the result of the manner in which the casing was placed in the well. Buser said it was 70 feet from the bottom and that additional joints have been attached so the casing now rests 6 feet from the bottom of the well. According to Buser the present flow of the well will go a long way towards supplying the school with an ample water supply. The repairs to the well are in charge of the T. V. Carpenter Well-Drilling Company, of Cumberland.

Kiwanians Plan To Take Children To Church Nov. 1

Adults Are Urged To Participate

KEYSER — Each member of Keyser Kiwanis Club has agreed to take from one to three or more children to places of worship on Sunday, November 1, which is being observed nationally as "Take a Kid To Worship" Sunday, according to Arnold Sliger, chairman of the club's committee on Support of Churches.

Dedicated to bringing young people closer to religion, the program is sponsored nationally by Kiwanis International and the National Kid's Day Foundation in cooperation with the November observance of "Religion in American Life."

"Hundreds of thousands of young people will be introduced or re-introduced to religion on Sunday, November 1," Sliger said. "It is our fervent hope that this will not be a one-day-a-year occasion, but, instead, will serve to interest countless youngsters in participating in religious activities the year 'round.

"The program is not designed to benefit one particular faith," Sliger continued, "it is intended to activate attendance by our young people to any house of worship of their choice."

All adults are urged to participate in the program by transporting children to worship places on November 1. It is expected that some local religious leaders will plan special programs to interest youth for the occasion.

Olson, Turpin Set For Title Go Wednesday

Bobo Is Rated 2-1 Choice In Madison Square Garden Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Clever, superbly conditioned Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco, and power-punching Randy Turpin of England battle it out for the vacant middleweight championship at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

Although the husky British Negro once held the 160-pound crown on the strength of an upset triumph over Sugar Ray Robinson, he is rated a 2-1 underdog to the improved West Coaster.

Both Fought Robinson

On their records and on a comparison of their performances against Sugar Ray, Randy figured to be a favorite, or at the worst, even money, against the slope-shouldered, balding Bobo.

Turpin whipped the great Robinson in London, July 10, 1951, but lost back the title to Robinson 64 days later in New York on a tenth round technical knockout. Turpin's reign was the shortest in middleweight history.

Olson lost both of his fights with Robinson. He was flattened in 12 by Ray three years ago, and on March 13, 1952, dropped a close ten rounder to Robinson.

Why then is Olson the favorite? The belief is that Turpin has slipped since his battles with Robinson and that Olson has improved considerably. Turpin looked mediocre in beating France's Charley Humez for the European crown last June.

Bout To Be Broadcast

Turpin's record is 49-3-1 with 33 knockouts. Olson's record is 53-5 with 25 kayos.

The 10 p.m., EST, Bout will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast but New York, for the first time, will be blacked out of the TV.

Other fights this week:

TONIGHT—Floyd Patterson, Brooklyn middleweight, vs. Wes Bascom, St. Louis, 10 rounds, at Eastern Parkway Arena, Brooklyn, N. Y., 10 p. m., EST. Telecast by Dumont.

FRIDAY—Ernie Durando, Bayonne, N. J., vs. Charles Humez, Paris, middleweights, 10 rounds, at Paris, France.

FRIDAY—Pierre Langlois, France, vs. Garth Panter, Salt Lake City, middleweights, 10 rounds, at Madison Square Garden, 10 p. m., EST. Broadcast by ABC and telecast by NBC.

SATURDAY—Henry Davis, Honolulu, vs. Art Persley, Red Cross, La., lightweights, 10 rounds, at Chicago, 9 p. m., EST. Telecast by ABC.

Hampden-Sydney Tops Mason-Dixon League

Hampden-Sydney led the Mason-Dixon Football Conference today with two victories in as many games.

The Tigers from Virginia chewed Johns Hopkins 28-0 Saturday for their second straight shutout of conference foes. They whipped Bridgewater 26-0 the week before.

It was the third straight setback for Johns Hopkins, its first in the conference. The Baltimore collegians scored 13 points the first game, were shut out the next two and have had 100 points tallied against them.

Randolph Macon, the defending conference champion, got into the win column 27-12 over Bridgewater after losing the first game to Western Maryland.

Western Maryland went out of the conference and took a 28-0 beating from Lafayette to even its overall record at 2-2. Western Maryland is unbeaten in one conference game.

Champ KO's Boss

PARIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—European welterweight champion Gilbert Lavoine of France today won his first fight in the middleweight division with a technical knockout of the Dutch champion Harry Boss in the fourth round of a scheduled 10 round contest. The referee stopped the fight after Boss' manager threw in the towel.

Yankees' Series Money Pays Off The Mortgages

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK — Bases on balls, base hits and money—the world champion New York Yankees seem to put each to good use with equal facility.

When the Yankees learned that a winner's full share in the World Series would amount to $8,200 there was no hesitation on what the individual players would do with the record sum.

In most cases mortgages will be reduced.

YOGI BERRA—"It'll help pay off the mortgage on my Woodcliffe Lake home in New Jersey."

JOE COLLINS—"This will do it—pay the mortgage at Union, N. J. I've got three kids and am sifting offers for a winter job, too."

ED FORD—"The money will pay off part of my Glen Cove, N. Y., mortgage and this winter I'll be a contact man for a toy manufacturer."

ED LOPAT—"When I saw we were going to win the pennant I landscaped our home at Hillsdale, N. J. The Series money will go for annuities for an education for my boy and girl."

ANDY CAREY—"I'm putting my money in the bank for later."

ALLIE REYNOLDS—"The other Series paid for those things. The oil well business in Oklahoma should keep me busy for some time. We've drilled five and hit five."

MICKEY MANTLE—"Last year I paid off my dad's home in Commerce, Okla., and now I'll furnish my own place."

GENE WOODLING—"I'm putting my money in the bank and later will buy a farm to live a quiet life out of congestion."

We failed to ask the Brooklyn Dodgers what they are going to do with the loser's share of $6,100. Chances are they would like to spend some of it for a baseball course on "how to beat the Yankees."

TOM GORMAN—"I'll buy a house and sell insurance during the winter."

JOHN SAIN—"My other years took care of many things and this winter I'll sell cars around Newport, Ark."

GENE WOODLING—"I'm putting my money in the bank and later will buy a farm to live a quiet life out of congestion."

We failed to ask the Brooklyn Dodgers what they are going to down payment on a ranch for my mother and father around Orville, Calif."

(*) Moorefield and Petersburg played tie game.

Under a new regulation adopted in February, a tie counts a half game won and a half game lost. The number of games won is to be divided by the number of games played. A maximum of five games may be used in computing percentages with all losses counting. A school must play a minimum of four games to qualify for the conference championship.

Terps And Duke Own 2-0 Marks In Conference

South Carolina Plays Clemson On Thursday

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland and Duke top the Atlantic Coast Conference football standings in a joint occupancy that is expected to last the rest of the season.

Although Duke lost national lustre in its 14-13 loss to Army in New York Saturday, the Blue Devils' 2-0 conference mark remained untarnished.

Terps Trim Tar Heels

Maryland, undefeated and third-ranked nationally, blanked North Carolina in methodical fashion, 26-0, for its second conference victory. Wake Forest disposed of North Carolina State 20-7, in the only other conference action. Clemson and the University of South Carolina idled awaiting their state fair game in Columbia, S.C., Thursday.

Maryland has only one conference game remaining—an Oct. 31 home date with South Carolina. Duke entertains North Carolina State next week and meets North Carolina in the season finale Nov. 28.

The Terrapins figure to get past South Carolina without too much trouble.

Duke should have little trouble with North Carolina State's conference cellar-dwellers. Off their early season performance, the Blue Devils rate over North Carolina. However, the intense rivalry between the two schools could breed an upset. And the Blue Devils must battle Georgie Tech only one week before meeting the Tar Heels.

Duke Bows To Army

Duke's dreams of an unbeaten season faded before underrated Army. The Polo Grounds thriller found the Cadets outplaying and outscoring the nation's seventh-ranking

Olson, Turpin Set For Title Go Wednesday

Bobo Is Rated 2-1 Choice In Madison Square Garden Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Clever, superbly conditioned Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco, and power-punching Randy Turpin of England battle it out for the vacant middleweight championship at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

Although the husky British Negro once held the 160-pound crown on the strength of an upset triumph over Sugar Ray Robinson, he is rated a 2-1 underdog to the improved West Coaster.

Both Fought Robinson

On their records and on a comparison of their performances against Sugar Ray, Randy figured to be a favorite, or at the worst, even money, against the slope-shouldered, balding Bobo.

Turpin whipped the great Robinson in London, July 10, 1951, but lost back the title to Robinson 64 days later in New York on a tenth round technical knockout. Turpin's reign was the shortest in middleweight history.

Olson lost both of his fights with Robinson. He was flattened in 12 by Ray three years ago, and on March 13, 1952, dropped a close ten rounder to Robinson.

Why then is Olson the favorite? The belief is that Turpin has slipped since his battles with Robinson and that Olson has improved considerably. Turpin looked mediocre in beating France's Charley Humez for the European crown last June.

Bout To Be Broadcast

Turpin's record is 49-3-1 with 33 knockouts. Olson's record is 53-5 with 25 kayos.

The 10 p.m., EST, Bout will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast but New York, for the first time, will be blacked out of the TV.

Other fights this week:

TONIGHT—Floyd Patterson, Brooklyn middleweight, vs. Wes Bascom, St. Louis, 10 rounds, at Eastern Parkway Arena, Brooklyn, N. Y., 10 p. m., EST. Telecast by Dumont.

FRIDAY—Ernie Durando, Bayonne, N. J., vs. Charles Humez, Paris, middleweights, 10 rounds, at Paris, France.

FRIDAY—Pierre Langlois, France, vs. Garth Panter, Salt Lake City, middleweights, 10 rounds, at Madison Square Garden, 10 p. m., EST. Broadcast by ABC and telecast by NBC.

SATURDAY—Henry Davis, Honolulu, vs. Art Persley, Red Cross, La., lightweights, 10 rounds, at Chicago, 9 p. m., EST. Telecast by ABC.

Hampden-Sydney Tops Mason-Dixon League

Hampden-Sydney led the Mason-Dixon Football Conference today with two victories in as many games.

The Tigers from Virginia chewed Johns Hopkins 28-0 Saturday for their second straight shutout of conference foes. They whipped Bridgewater 26-0 the week before.

It was the third straight setback for Johns Hopkins, its first in the conference. The Baltimore collegians scored 13 points the first game, were shut out the next two and have had 100 points tallied against them.

Randolph Macon, the defending conference champion, got into the win column 27-12 over Bridgewater after losing the first game to Western Maryland.

Western Maryland went out of the conference and took a 28-0 beating from Lafayette to even its overall record at 2-2. Western Maryland is unbeaten in one conference game.

Champ KO's Boss

PARIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—European welterweight champion Gilbert Lavoine of France today won his first fight in the middleweight division with a technical knockout of the Dutch champion Harry Boss in the fourth round of a scheduled 10 round contest. The referee stopped the fight after Boss' manager threw in the towel.

Yankees' Series Money Pays Off The Mortgages

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK — Bases on balls, base hits and money—the world champion New York Yankees seem to put each to good use with equal facility.

When the Yankees learned that a winner's full share in the World Series would amount to $8,200 there was no hesitation on what the individual players would do with the record sum.

In most cases mortgages will be reduced.

YOGI BERRA—"It'll help pay off the mortgage on my Woodcliffe Lake home in New Jersey."

JOE COLLINS—"This will do it—pay the mortgage at Union, N. J. I've got three kids and am sifting offers for a winter job, too."

ED FORD—"The money will pay off part of my Glen Cove, N. Y., mortgage and this winter I'll be a contact man for a toy manufacturer."

ED LOPAT—"When I saw we were going to win the pennant I landscaped our home at Hillsdale, N. J. The Series money will go for annuities for an education for my boy and girl."

ANDY CAREY—"I'm putting my money in the bank for later."

ALLIE REYNOLDS—"The other Series paid for those things. The oil well business in Oklahoma should keep me busy for some time. We've drilled five and hit five."

MICKEY MANTLE—"Last year I paid off my dad's home in Commerce, Okla., and now I'll furnish my own place."

GENE WOODLING—"I'm putting my money in the bank and later will buy a farm to live a quiet life out of congestion."

We failed to ask the Brooklyn Dodgers what they are going to do with the loser's share of $6,100. Chances are they would like to spend some of it for a baseball course on "how to beat the Yankees."

(*) Moorefield and Petersburg played tie game.

Under a new regulation adopted in February, a tie counts a half game won and a half game lost. The number of games won is to be divided by the number of games played. A maximum of five games may be used in computing percentages with all losses counting. A school must play a minimum of four games to qualify for the conference championship.

Terps And Duke Own 2-0 Marks In Conference

South Carolina Plays Clemson On Thursday

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland and Duke top the Atlantic Coast Conference football standings in a joint occupancy that is expected to last the rest of the season.

Although Duke lost national lustre in its 14-13 loss to Army in New York Saturday, the Blue Devils' 2-0 conference mark remained untarnished.

Terps Trim Tar Heels

Maryland, undefeated and third-ranked nationally, blanked North Carolina in methodical fashion, 26-0, for its second conference victory. Wake Forest disposed of North Carolina State 20-7, in the only other conference action. Clemson and the University of South Carolina idled awaiting their state fair game in Columbia, S.C., Thursday.

Maryland has only one conference game remaining—an Oct. 31 home date with South Carolina. Duke entertains North Carolina State next week and meets North Carolina in the season finale Nov. 28.

The Terrapins figure to get past South Carolina without too much trouble.

Duke should have little trouble with North Carolina State's conference cellar-dwellers. Off their early season performance, the Blue Devils rate over North Carolina. However, the intense rivalry between the two schools could breed an upset. And the Blue Devils must battle Georgie

Cleveland's Undefeated Browns Turn Back Redskins, 30-14

Ohioans Rally For 17 Points In 4th Period

33,963 See Graham, Groza Star As Team Wins 4th Straight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (INS) — The undefeated Cleveland Browns came from behind in the last quarter today with a 17-point surge to smash the Washington Redskins 30 to 14 and mark up their fourth National Professional League win.

The combined talents of Lou Groza and Otto Graham paced the Browns to the triumph over the previously-unbeaten Redskins before a sell-out crowd of 33,963.

Groza booted three field goals and three conversions while Graham scored once himself and hurled the touchdown pass that put Cleveland ahead for keeps.

Until that point, it had been a see saw contest between the two rivals for the Eastern Division title. Groza's first quarter field goal from the 9 sent the Browns ahead but on the first play of the second period, Redskin rookie Jack Scarbath unfurled a 61-yard touchdown pass to Hugh Taylor and Washington led 7 to 3.

Groza shortly after booted his second field goal from 29 yards out and the Browns subsequently staged an 80-yard touchdown march with Graham shoving over from the 1 to regain the lead 13 to 7.

In the opening minutes of the final period, Washington's Jack Cloud waylaid a Graham pass and sped 28 yards for the touchdown and Bill Dudley's extra point gave the Redskins the edge 14 to 13.

At that point, the Browns took command. They travelled 58 yards after the kickoff to score with Graham finding Dante Lavelli in the end zone with a 25-yard toss. A Redskin fumble set up a second touchdown minutes later with Bobby Reynolds slashing nine yards for the score and in the waning moments, Groza booted his third field goal from the 22.

Colts Beaten By Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis., Oct. 18 (INS)—The Green Bay Packers, rebounding after three defeats, turned pass interceptions into touchdowns today as they whipped the Baltimore Colts, 37 to 14, in a National Football League game.

The Packers turned three of five interceptions of Fred Enke's throws into scores. However, on the credit side for the Colts, Enke passed for two six-pointers—one to John Huzvar and another to Bert Rechichar.

Floyd Reid, Al Carmichael and Val Joe Walker were the offensive stars in a 24-point second half Packer barrage.

New York Giants Defeat Cards, 21-7

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (INS)—The New York Giants, grabbing their first victory, climbed out of the Eastern Conference cellar in the National Football League today with a 21-7 victory over the winless Chicago Cardinals at the Polo Grounds.

Thirty thousand partisan New York fans saw the Giants' defense stop the Cardinals with a minus one yard rushing. It was Chicago's fourth straight loss.

Quarterback Charley Conerly kept the Giants in contention in the league, tossing for one touchdown and setting up another.

Conerly got the first Giant surge going with three straight pass completions which put the ball on the Chicago three. Halfback Ev Grandelius cracked over, climaxing a 61-yard drive.

The Giants scored again a minute later when Guard Bill Albright picked up a Chicago fumble on the Cards' 15 and scampered over.

Chicago got into the scoring column in the third period when Quarterback Steve Romanik sneaked across from the two, capping a 45-yard march.

Conerly passed to Ray Pelfry, who grabbed the ball after a Chicago defender deflected it, for 60 yards and the final score.

Bill Catherman Posts Record 30 In CCC Tourney

Gets Five Straight Birdies, Wins Event

Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., won the straight handicap tournament over the weekend at the Cumberland Country Club with a net 63 and established what is believed to be an amateur record when he shot a 30 for the first or "front nine."

Catherman, playing with Clifton Van Roby against Judge Morgan C. Harris and Carroll Boggs, CCC pro, turned in a gross score of 66, five under par, for the 18 holes.

"Bill" came out of the rough on three for a birdie, on No. 4 (par 5) in two and two putts for birdie-4; canned a 12-footer for a birdie on No. 5; knocked down a 20-footer for a birdie on No. 6, and hit an approach two feet from the cup on No. 7 for his fifth birdie in succession. On No. 8 he missed from 20 feet and on No. 9 knocked in another 5-footer for another birdie, six of them all told, five in a row.

Boggs turned in a two-under-par 69, Roby had a 73 and Judge Harris 79.

Catherman's hole-by-hole score:

Par Out	354	543	444	—36
Catherman	353	432	343	—30

Twenty-six members participated in the weekend tourney.

Winners on the par three holes were: No. 1—Jerome Ellenson. No. 6—Clifton Van Roby. No. 10—Bob Lacy. No. 12—Jerome Ellenson. No. 13—Bob Lacy. No. 15—James W. Beacham.

In the club's Scotch foursome tournament, C. S. Catherman, Jr., and Dr. A. G. Sandhoff defeated J. W. McClure and George A. Schwarzenbach, 2 and 1.

Stanford, Army SMU Recapture Gridiron Glory

Methodists Cop 12-7 Thriller From Rice

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Stanford, Army and Southern Methodist have turned back the hands of the football clock to recapture, at least temporarily, their grid glories of the recent past.

It was a Stanford club reminiscent of the Coast champions of two years ago that cast a shadow over UCLA Rose Bowl hopes by upsetting the fourth-ranked Bruins 21-20. Army put on a greater goal line stand than had the Glenn Davis-Doc Blanchard eleven in its finale against Navy in '46 to preserve a 14-13 victory over Duke, the nation's No. 7 team.

A Frank Merriwell finish typical of the Doak Walker era brought SMU a 12-7 triumph over 11th rated Rice.

UCLA, Duke and Rice had gone into those games unbeaten.

Spartans, Irish Score

Meanwhile it was business as usual on victory row for a contingent led by top-rated Notre Dame whose 23-14 comeback victory over Pitt made the Irish look more and more like the national titlists of the late forties. Michigan State, No. 2, ran its winning string to 28 with a 47-18 bombarding of Indiana. Third-ranked Maryland throttled previously unbeaten North Carolina 26-0.

For the second straight week sub quarterback Duncan McDonald brought victory to Michigan as he passed for all three touchdowns in a 20-12 triumph over Northwestern. Georgia Tech, No. 6 and a step behind the Wolverines in the last AP poll, proved it had recovered fully from a shaky start by romping over a good Auburn team 36-6 in its 31st consecutive undefeated contest.

Baylor Has Field Day

Eighth place Baylor had a field day, 47-6, against Vanderbilt. Illinois completed its conversion from giant-killer to Giant in the Big Ten by downing Minnesota 27-7. West Virginia, No. 10, had pocketed George Washington 27-6 Friday night.

It was a pitch and palm artist named Bob Garrett who quarterbacked Stanford to victory, connecting on 18 of 27 passes for 196 yards and all the touchdowns. Garrett, incidentally, had to go some to outshine Bruin tailback Paul Cameron who tossed a 47-yard scoring pass and ripped across twice to account for UCLA's six-pointers.

Despite the always-dangerous Worth Lutz who tallied both Blue Devil TD's, Duke lost its fourth game in as many appearances against Army in New York's Polo Grounds.

Louisiana State stepped forward as Georgia Tech's chief challenger in the Southeast in downing Georgia 14-6. Alabama was held to its second tie in three SEC outings by Tennessee 0-0. Mississippi State was knocked out of the unbeaten ranks and co-conference leadership in a shocking 32-13 loss to Kentucky. And Mississippi raced over Tulane 45-14.

Navy Crushes Tigers

Navy commanded national attention by crushing previously unbeaten Princeton 65-7 — biggest score run up against the Tigers since they started the American game against Rutgers in 1369.

Parsons High Lets Lighting Contract For Athletic Field

PARSONS, W. Va. — Parsons high school Lighting Association met on Thursday evening and awarded the contract of lighting equipment to the Fairmont Supply Company of Fairmont, according to Del Roy Harner, president of the Association. The total contract price is $10,500 and will be Westinghouse Electric equipment.

The corporation announced that they have approximately $8,000 of the money on hand and will need about $2,500.00 to pay for the equipment. Members of the corporation and others will be contacting citizens of Tucker county during the next week to secure this additional money to wind up the campaign.

The contract calls for one hundred and twenty lights to light the Parsons High School Athletic Field for both football and baseball.

Hagerstown And Fort Hill Tangle Here Friday Night

Bulldogs Host AHS, LaSalle At Altoona, Ridgeley At Romney

Defeated by an unbeaten and once-tied Handley High School eleven Saturday afternoon at Winchester, Va., Fort Hill High's Sentinels will now point for their important engagement with Mel Henry's Hagerstown High gridders on Friday night at the local stadium.

Coach William P. Hahn's aggregation was upended by the Judges to the tune of 20-7, the loss being the first in five starts this season for the Greenway Avenue grid warriors who have enjoyed a winning streak of seven games, including three at the tailend of the 1952 campaign. The victory was Winchester's fourth against one tie.

Lose 8th In 80 Games

Saturday's setback was only Fort Hill's eighth in 80 games played under Coach Hahn in nine seasons. The Sentinels have won 68 and tied 4 over that span.

Pingley, Hickerson and Hyatt scored Handley's three touchdowns and Grove and Binner kicked the extra points as the Virginians took a 20-0 lead at halftime in Saturday's tilt. Dick Bittner scored for Fort Hill in the third period to avert a shutout for the Cumberland team and Gene Weber made the conversion.

Fort Hill's contest with Hagerstown Friday will be the 17th of a series that started in 1936. The locals have won 13 of the 16 games played to date. Coach Henry, who tutored Fort Hill teams in 1943, 1944 and 1945 for a 23-3-1 record is rounding out his fifth season as mentor of the Hubs who have a 1-5 record to date. Against Fort Hill his teams have won one and lost three. The locals have won by scores of 47-0, 20-7 and 20-6 while losing last year, 14-7.

Campers Defeat Blazers

Coach Roy Lester's Allegany High Campers tied Fort Hill and LaSalle at 4-1 for the season by rallying in the closing minutes of the final period to whip Montgomery Blair High's Blazers to the tune of 13-6 Saturday night at the local stadium.

With less than a minute left to play Eddie Joyce raced over from the two-yard mark to culminate a 65-yard march that brought victory. Dick Rank kicked the extra point.

The teams battled to a scoreless deadlock during the first half, but the Campers broke the ice in the third stanza when Donald "Bucky" Rice took Bob Kirtley's pitchout and scampered 30 yards down the sideline for the six-pointer. Rank's kick for the point was blocked.

Blazers Deadlock Score

Montgomery Blair tied the score with only 4½ minutes left to play in the last period. Eddie Wood took a pitchout from Edgar Turney and in turn passed to Dick Street who went over from the 5. The scoring play covered 35 yards. Bob Reiber deflected Street's boot for the point and the score remained 6-6.

Allegany now prepares for its next contest with Martinsburg High's Bulldogs Friday night at Martinsburg. It will be the 29th game of a series that had its inception in 1919 when Page Young was the grid mentor at the local school. Allegany has been returned the winner over Martinsburg 17 times while losing nine. Two games ended in ties. Martinsburg's last win was in 1947 by the score of 20-0. Allegany copped the 1952 contest, 16-0.

LaSalle Visits Altoona

LaSalle hits the road Friday night for its 10th game of the series with the Catholic High Marauders at Altoona, Pa. In the nine games played to date, Altoona has won six, LaSalle two and one contest ended in a tie. In their last meeting in 1951, LaSalle scored a 30-0 victory.

The defeat of Fort Hill over the weekend, left Romney High School's Pioneers as the lone undefeated eleven in the tri-state area. Dick McElwee's Pioneers made it six in a row Saturday afternoon by handing Beall High its fourth straight setback at Frostburg, 27-7. Sammy Lyons scored two of the Romney touchdowns while Roger Parker and Eddie Hartman got the others. Parker made three conversions. Beall, blanked in three previous games, scored its first touchdown of the season in the final period, when Henry Lloyd went over from seven yards out. Hawkins place kicked the point.

Romney will be gunning for its 7th straight win when it plays host to Ridgeley in a P.V.C. game Friday afternoon.

The 24th meeting of Moorefield and Keyser is also set for Friday at Keyser. This series was inaugurated in 1927 and Keyser leads in wins, 14 to 9. Keyser defeated the Alumni Saturday, 13-0, with Ernie Courrier accounting for all of the points on two touchdowns and one conversion.

Potomac State Scores

Coach "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts made their record 2-2 for the season in the West Virginia Conference by edging Glenville's Pioneers, 13-7, at Glenville. Jack Gorman was the "whole show" for the Cats. He intercepted a pass and galloped 97 yards for one score and caught a 12-yard pass for another. All of the scoring was done in the second quarter. Potomac State is scheduled to play Shepherd College's Rams at Shepherdstown Saturday.

Other Friday games find Thomas at Berkeley Springs, West Virginia School for the Deaf at Parsons, Circleville at Petersburg in a P.V.C. contest and Elkins "B" at Franklin.

Beall will still be trying for its initial win when it opposes Charles Town (W. Va.) High at Frostburg Saturday afternoon.

Comets Capture Overtime Battle In Touch League

Defeat Clowns, 19-18 For Fourth Triumph

Coach Bob Pence's Comets took over sole possession of first place in the Men's Division of the City Rec Touch Football League by defeating the Clowns in a spirited overtime battle yesterday at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 19-18.

The regulation game ended in an 18-18 deadlock and in the overtime stanza the Comets' advanced the bill farther in four downs from midfield than their opponents to gain the winning point.

The Comets' lineup included many former Allegany and LaSalle players while Clowns' roster comprised ex-Fort Hill gridders.

Roy Manges accounted for two of the losers' four touchdowns while Price got the other. Wes Abrams, Chapman and Mattingly scored TDs for the Comets.

Both teams were undefeated prior to yesterday's game with 3-0 records.

In other Sunday contests, the Terps downed the Blue Devils, 30-6, and the B&O Bulldogs, paced by Bratt who scored thrice and Squires and Goss who had two touchdowns each, defeated Luke's Boys, 48-30. Koelker racked up a pair of TDs for the losers.

Seixas Scores Over Trabert

Vic Annexes Title At White Sulphur

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 18 (AP)—Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia defeated U.S. national king Tony Trabert, 6-4, 6-4, in the finals of the 2snd annual Fall Festival Tennis Tournament at the Greenbrier Hotel today.

The result was a reversal of the final of the national singles championship at Forest Hills, N.Y., last month when Trabert, of Cincinnati, defeated Seixas in three straight sets. Today's match evened the score between America's Davis Cup singles players at three tournaments each.

This was their last tournament in the U.S. this year before departing early next month with the Davis Cup team for Australia.

About 1,000 fans saw the finals of the tournament on the Greenbrier's hard (composition) courts.

Both Trabert and Seixas reached the finals without losing a set, although Trabert was extended, 6-4, 9-7, in winning over Sven Davidson, Swedish champion and Davis Cupper. Seixas downed Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, 6-4, 6-4.

Detroit Suffers First Setback

DETROIT, Oct. 18 (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams fought their way into a tie for the National Football League's Western Division lead today by handing the defending champion Detroit Lions their first defeat of the season, 31 to 19.

Smart quarterbacking by Norm Van Brocklin, the running of halfback Skeet Quinlan, kick runbacks by Woodley Lewis and a circus scoring catch by end Elroy Hirsch featured the Rams' attack.

The Rams led 17 to 9 at the half and never were seriously threatened until late in the third quarter when the Lions drew within five points of tying them. But a fumble and a pass interception foiled the Detroit bid.

Although the Lions outgained the Rams, 426 yards to 391, punt returns by Lewis, including one for a touchdown, gave Los Angeles a decided edge.

Holy Cross Bows To Marines, 17-0

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 18 (INS)—The Quantico Marines toppled Holy Cross from the ranks of the undefeated today when the Marines whitewashed the Crusaders, 17 to 0, before 20,000 football fans at Fitton Field.

John Petitbon, formerly of Notre Dame, was the outstanding star of the Marine eleven, made up of former ace college players.

In the opening period, Meyer Roberts, former Stanford star, put Quantico in front when he kicked a 21 yard field goal that was set up by a Holy Cross fumble.

In the third period, a 41-yard pass, John Fry to Robert Trout, both formerly of Baylor, set up the first TD. Petitbon then dashed 18 yards for the score.

Petitbon scored the final touchdown in the fourth quarter on a nine yard run that was set up on a series of passes and short runs from the Marines 41.

Maryland May Face Oklahoma In Orange Bowl On New Year's

2-Year Pact Approved By ACC And Big Seven

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Champions of the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast Conferences—probably Oklahoma and Maryland—will meet in the Orange Bowl football game here next New Year's Day.

Negotiations for a two-year pact were completed in Kansas City today when faculty representatives of the Big Seven formally approved it. The Atlantic Coast group already had voted in favor of the tieup.

Orange Bowl President W. Bruce MacIntosh announced the Big Seven action in a long distance telephone call from Kansas City.

To Work Out Details

MacIntosh said there were some details still to be worked out, including whether the same teams will be allowed to play in the bowl two years in a row.

The newly-formed Atlantic Coast Conference will have no legitimate champion until 1956, when each team will be able to schedule all the others. The conference members will vote which team is best and entitled to go to the Orange Bowl.

Atlantic Coast members are Maryland, Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, Virginia, South Carolina and Clemson.

The Big Seven is composed of Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Kansas State and Iowa State.

MacIntosh said the Orange Bowl will guarantee each competing team a minimum of $110,000. Last year Alabama and Syracuse each took $104,000.

Three thousand seats are being added to the Orange Bowl to bring the seating capacity to approximately 70,000. The games are televised and broadcast nationally by CBS under a contract which will extend through the 1955 game.

Terps Have Chance

Oklahoma and Maryland are strong favorites to win supremacy in the two conferences this season and play the first game under the new pact.

If the same teams win the championship two years in a row and the conferences vote against sending teams to the Orange Bowl two years straight presumably the runners-up would make the trip the second year.

San Francisco Upends Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (INS)—The Chicago Bears stormed to three first period touchdowns today but then ran out of gas and were waylaid by the San Francisco 49ers, 35 to 28, in a National Football League game at Wrigley Field.

The 49ers, playing without the services of their ace passer, Y. A. Tittle, who was sidelined with injuries, operated mostly overground, with big Joe Perry doing an impressive job of ball carrying.

Perry scored three touchdowns—one on a 51-yard sprint down the middle of the field. Joe Arenas and Hugh McElhenny combined with Perry to rip Bear defenses for a touchdown in the first quarter, and four more in a one-sided second half which saw San Francisco assert almost complete dominance of play.

The Bears' hot first quarter saw Bill Wightkin, Billy Stone and Ed Sprinkle tally touchdowns, while they limited the 49ers to one score.

The Chicago club led, 21 to 7, at halftime. Then the Bears cooled off, while the 49ers piled up their winning touchdowns.

Cleveland's Undefeated Browns Turn Back Redskins, 30-14

33,963 See Graham, Groza Star As Team Wins 4th Straight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (INS) — The undefeated Cleveland Browns came from behind in the last quarter today with a 17-point surge to smash the Washington Redskins 30 to 14 and mark up their fourth National Professional League win.

The combined talents of Lou Groza and Otto Graham paced the Browns to the triumph over the previously-unbeaten Redskins before a sell-out crowd of 33,963.

Groza booted three field goals and three conversions while Graham scored once himself and hurled the touchdown pass that put Cleveland ahead for keeps.

Until that point, it had been a see saw contest between the two rivals for the Eastern Division title. Groza's first quarter field goal from the 9 sent the Browns ahead but on the first play of the second period, Redskin rookie Jack Scarbath unfurled a 61-yard touchdown pass to Hugh Taylor and Washington led 7 to 3.

Groza shortly after booted his second field goal from 29 yards out and the Browns subsequently staged an 80-yard touchdown march with Graham shoving over from the 1 to regain the lead 13 to 7.

In the opening minutes of the final period, Washington's Jack Cloud waylaid a Graham pass and sped 28 yards for the touchdown and Bill Dudley's extra point gave the Redskins the edge 14 to 13.

At that point, the Browns took command. They travelled 58 yards after the kickoff to score with Graham finding Dante Lavelli in the end zone with a 25-yard toss. A Redskin fumble set up a second touchdown minutes later with Bobby Reynolds slashing nine yards for the score and in the waning moments, Groza booted his third field goal from the 22.

Colts Beaten By Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis., Oct. 18 (INS)—The Green Bay Packers, rebounding after three defeats, turned pass interceptions into touchdowns today as they whipped the Baltimore Colts, 37 to 14, in a National Football League game.

The Packers turned three of five interceptions of Fred Enke's throws into scores. However, on the credit side for the Colts, Enke passed for two six-pointers—one to John Huzvar and another to Bert Rechichar.

Floyd Reid, Al Carmichael and Val Joe Walker were the offensive stars in a 24-point second half Packer barrage.

New York Giants Defeat Cards, 21-7

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (INS)—The New York Giants, grabbing their first victory, climbed out of the Eastern Conference cellar in the National Football League today with a 21-7 victory over the winless Chicago Cardinals at the Polo Grounds.

Thirty thousand partisan New York fans saw the Giants' defense stop the Cardinals with a minus one yard rushing. It was Chicago's fourth straight loss.

Quarterback Charley Conerly kept the Giants in contention in the league, tossing for one touchdown and setting up another.

Conerly got the first Giant surge going with three straight pass completions which put the ball on the Chicago three. Halfback Ev Grandelius cracked over, climaxing a 61-yard drive.

The Giants scored again a minute later when Guard Bill Albright picked up a Chicago fumble on the Cards' 15 and scampered over.

Chicago got into the scoring column in the third period when Quarterback Steve Romanik sneaked across from the two, capping a 45-yard march.

Parsons High Lets Lighting Contract For Athletic Field

PARSONS, W. Va. — Parsons high school Lighting Association met on Thursday evening and awarded the contract of lighting equipment to the Fairmont Supply Company of Fairmont, according to Del Roy Harner, president of the Association. The total contract price is $10,500 and will be Westinghouse Electric equipment.

The corporation announced that they have approximately $8,000 of the money on hand and will need about $2,500.00 to pay for the equipment. Members of the corporation and others will be contacting citizens of Tucker county during the next week to secure this additional money to wind up the campaign.

The contract calls for one hundred and twenty lights to light the Parsons High School Athletic Field for both football and baseball.

DOAK WASTES AWAY

DETROIT — Doak Walker, the Detroit Lions' fine halfback from Southern Methodist University, is "wasting away" in the pro ranks. Walker, who entered college at a husky 180 pounds, plays at 172-pounds as a professional.

Bill Catherman Posts Record 30 In CCC Tourney

Gets Five Straight Birdies, Wins Event

Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., won the straight handicap tournament over the weekend at the Cumberland Country Club with a net 63 and established what is believed to be an amateur record when he shot a 30 for the first or "front nine."

Catherman, playing with Clifton Van Roby against Judge Morgan C. Harris and Carroll Boggs, CCC pro, turned in a gross score of 66, five under par, for the 18 holes.

"Bill" came out of the rough on three for a birdie, on No. 4 (par 5) in two and two putts for birdie-4; canned a 12-footer for a birdie on No. 5; knocked down a 20-footer for a birdie on No. 6, and hit an approach two feet from the cup on No. 7 for his fifth birdie in succession. On No. 8 he missed from 20 feet and on No. 9 knocked in another 5-footer for another birdie, six of them all told, five in a row.

Boggs turned in a two-under-par 69, Roby had a 73 and Judge Harris 79.

Catherman's hole-by-hole score:

Par Out	354	543	444	—36
Catherman	353	432	343	—30

Twenty-six members participated in the weekend tourney.

Winners on the par three holes were: No. 1—Jerome Ellenson. No. 6—Clifton Van Roby. No. 10—Bob Lacy. No. 12—Jerome Ellenson. No. 13—Bob Lacy. No. 15—James W. Beacham.

In the club's Scotch foursome tournament, C. S. Catherman, Jr., and Dr. A. G. Sandhoff defeated J. W. McClure and George A. Schwarzenbach, 2 and 1.

Stanford, Army SMU Recapture Gridiron Glory

Methodists Cop 12-7 Thriller From Rice

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Stanford, Army and Southern Methodist have turned back the hands of the football clock to recapture, at least temporarily, their grid glories of the recent past.

It was a Stanford club reminiscent of the Coast champions of two years ago that cast a shadow over UCLA Rose Bowl hopes by upsetting the fourth-ranked Bruins 21-20. Army put on a greater goal line stand than had the Glenn Davis-Doc Blanchard eleven in its finale against Navy in '46 to preserve a 14-13 victory over Duke, the nation's No. 7 team.

A Frank Merriwell finish typical of the Doak Walker era brought SMU a 12-7 triumph over 11th rated Rice.

UCLA, Duke and Rice had gone into those games unbeaten.

Spartans, Irish Score

Meanwhile it was business as usual on victory row for a contingent led by top-rated Notre Dame whose 23-14 comeback victory over Pitt made the Irish look more and more like the national titlists of the late forties. Michigan State, No. 2, ran its winning string to 28 with a 47-18 bombarding of Indiana. Third-ranked Maryland throttled previously unbeaten North Carolina 26-0.

For the second straight week sub quarterback Duncan McDonald brought victory to Michigan as he passed for all three touchdowns in a 20-12 triumph over Northwestern. Georgia Tech, No. 6 and a step behind the Wolverines in the last AP poll, proved it had recovered fully from a shaky start by romping over a good Auburn team 36-6 in its 31st consecutive undefeated contest.

Baylor Has Field Day

Eighth place Baylor had a field day, 47-6, against Vanderbilt. Illinois completed its conversion from giant-killer to Giant in the Big Ten by downing Minnesota 27-7. West Virginia, No. 10, had pocketed George Washington 27-6 Friday night.

It was a pitch and palm artist named Bob Garrett who quarterbacked Stanford to victory, connecting on 18 of 27 passes for 196 yards and all the touchdowns. Garrett, incidentally, had to go some to outshine Bruin tailback Paul Cameron who tossed a 47-yard scoring pass and ripped across twice to account for UCLA's six-pointers.

Despite the always-dangerous Worth Lutz who tallied both Blue Devil TD's, Duke lost its fourth game in as many appearances against Army in New York's Polo Grounds.

Louisiana State stepped forward as Georgia Tech's chief challenger in the Southeast in downing Georgia 14-6. Alabama was held to its second tie in three SEC outings by Tennessee 0-0. Mississippi State was knocked out of the unbeaten ranks and co-conference leadership in a shocking 32-13 loss to Kentucky. And Mississippi raced over Tulane 45-14.

Navy Crushes Tigers

Navy commanded national attention by crushing previously unbeaten Princeton 65-7 — biggest score run up against the Tigers since they started the American game against Rutgers in 1369.

Hagerstown And Fort Hill Tangle Here Friday Night

Bulldogs Host AHS, LaSalle At Altoona, Ridgeley At Romney

Defeated by an unbeaten and once-tied Handley High School eleven Saturday afternoon at Winchester, Va., Fort Hill High's Sentinels will now point for their important engagement with Mel Henry's Hagerstown High gridders on Friday night at the local stadium.

Coach William P. Hahn's aggregation was upended by the Judges to the tune of 20-7, the loss being the first in five starts this season for the Greenway Avenue grid warriors who have enjoyed a winning streak of seven games, including three at the tailend of the 1952 campaign. The victory was Winchester's fourth against one tie.

Lose 8th In 80 Games

Saturday's setback was only Fort Hill's eighth in 80 games played under Coach Hahn in nine seasons. The Sentinels have won 68 and tied 4 over that span.

Pingley, Hickerson and Hyatt scored Handley's three touchdowns and Grove and Binner kicked the extra points as the Virginians took a 20-0 lead at halftime in Saturday's tilt. Dick Bittner scored for Fort Hill in the third period to avert a shutout for the Cumberland team and Gene Weber made the conversion.

Fort Hill's contest with Hagerstown Friday will be the 17th of a series that started in 1936. The locals have won 13 of the 16 games played to date. Coach Henry, who tutored Fort Hill teams in 1943, 1944 and 1945 for a 23-3-1 record is rounding out his fifth season as mentor of the Hubs who have a 1-5 record to date. Against Fort Hill his teams have won one and lost three. The locals have won by scores of 47-0, 20-7 and 20-6 while losing last year, 14-7.

Campers Defeat Blazers

Coach Roy Lester's Allegany High Campers tied Fort Hill and LaSalle at 4-1 for the season by rallying in the closing minutes of the final period to whip Montgomery Blair High's Blazers to the tune of 13-6 Saturday night at the local stadium.

With less than a minute left to play Eddie Joyce raced over from the two-yard mark to culminate a 65-yard march that brought victory. Dick Rank kicked the extra point.

The teams battled to a scoreless deadlock during the first half, but the Campers broke the ice in the third stanza when Donald "Bucky" Rice took Bob Kirtley's pitchout and scampered 30 yards down the sideline for the six-pointer. Rank's kick for the point was blocked.

Blazers Deadlock Score

Montgomery Blair tied the score with only 4½ minutes left to play in the last period. Eddie Wood took a pitchout from Edgar Turney and in turn passed to Dick Street who went over from the 5. The scoring play covered 35 yards. Bob Reiber deflected Street's boot for the point and the score remained 6-6.

Allegany now prepares for its next contest with Martinsburg High's Bulldogs Friday night at Martinsburg. It will be the 29th game of a series that had its inception in 1919 when Page Young was the grid mentor at the local school. Allegany has been returned the winner over Martinsburg 17 times while losing nine. Two games ended in ties. Martinsburg's last win was in 1947 by the score of 20-0. Allegany copped the 1952 contest, 16-0.

LaSalle Visits Altoona

LaSalle hits the road Friday night for its 10th game of the series with the Catholic High Marauders at Altoona, Pa. In the nine games played to date, Altoona has won six, LaSalle two and one contest ended in a tie. In their last meeting in 1951, LaSalle scored a 30-0 victory.

The defeat of Fort Hill over the weekend, left Romney High School's Pioneers as the lone undefeated eleven in the tri-state area. Dick McElwee's Pioneers made it six in a row Saturday afternoon by handing Beall High its fourth straight setback at Frostburg, 27-7. Sammy Lyons scored two of the Romney touchdowns while Roger Parker and Eddie Hartman got the others. Parker made three conversions. Beall, blanked in three previous games, scored its first touchdown of the season in the final period, when Henry Lloyd went over from seven yards out. Hawkins place kicked the point.

Romney will be gunning for its 7th straight win when it plays host to Ridgeley in a P.V.C. game Friday afternoon.

The 24th meeting of Moorefield and Keyser is also set for Friday at Keyser. This series was inaugurated in 1927 and Keyser leads in wins, 14 to 9. Keyser defeated the Alumni Saturday, 13-0, with Ernie Courrier accounting for all of the points on two touchdowns and one conversion.

Potomac State Scores

Coach "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts made their record 2-2 for the season in the West Virginia Conference by edging Glenville's Pioneers, 13-7, at Glenville. Jack Gorman was the "whole show" for the Cats. He intercepted a pass and galloped 97 yards for one score and caught a 12-yard pass for another. All of the scoring was done in the second quarter. Potomac State is scheduled to play Shepherd College's Rams at Shepherdstown Saturday.

Other Friday games find Thomas at Berkeley Springs, West Virginia School for the Deaf at Parsons, Circleville at Petersburg in a P.V.C. contest and Elkins "B" at Franklin.

Beall will still be trying for its initial win when it opposes Charles Town (W. Va.) High at Frostburg Saturday afternoon.

Comets Capture Overtime Battle In Touch League

Defeat Clowns, 19-18 For Fourth Triumph

Coach Bob Pence's Comets took over sole possession of first place in the Men's Division of the City Rec Touch Football League by defeating the Clowns in a spirited overtime battle yesterday at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 19-18.

The regulation game ended in an 18-18 deadlock and in the overtime stanza the Comets' advanced the bill farther in four downs from midfield than their opponents to gain the winning point.

The Comets' lineup included many former Allegany and LaSalle players while Clowns' roster comprised ex-Fort Hill gridders.

Roy Manges accounted for two of the losers' four touchdowns while Price got the other. Wes Abrams, Chapman and Mattingly scored TDs for the Comets.

Both teams were undefeated prior to yesterday's game with 3-0 records.

In other Sunday contests, the Terps downed the Blue Devils, 30-6, and the B&O Bulldogs, paced by Bratt who scored thrice and Squires and Goss who had two touchdowns each, defeated Luke's Boys, 48-30. Koelker racked up a pair of TDs for the losers.

Seixas Scores Over Trabert

Vic Annexes Title At White Sulphur

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 18 (AP)—Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia defeated U.S. national king Tony Trabert, 6-4, 6-4, in the finals of the 2snd annual Fall Festival Tennis Tournament at the Greenbrier Hotel today.

The result was a reversal of the final of the national singles championship at Forest Hills, N.Y., last month when Trabert, of Cincinnati, defeated Seixas in three straight sets. Today's match evened the score between America's Davis Cup singles players at three tournaments each.

This was their last tournament in the U.S. this year before departing early next month with the Davis Cup team for Australia.

About 1,000 fans saw the finals of the tournament on the Greenbrier's hard (composition) courts.

Both Trabert and Seixas reached the finals without losing a set, although Trabert was extended, 6-4, 9-7, in winning over Sven Davidson, Swedish champion and Davis Cupper. Seixas downed Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, 6-4, 6-4.

Detroit Suffers First Setback

DETROIT, Oct. 18 (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams fought their way into a tie for the National Football League's Western Division lead today by handing the defending champion Detroit Lions their first defeat of the season, 31 to 19.

Smart quarterbacking by Norm Van Brocklin, the running of halfback Skeet Quinlan, kick runbacks by Woodley Lewis and a circus scoring catch by end Elroy Hirsch featured the Rams' attack.

The Rams led 17 to 9 at the half and never were seriously threatened until late in the third quarter when the Lions drew within five points of tying them. But a fumble and a pass interception foiled the Detroit bid.

Although the Lions outgained the Rams, 426 yards to 391, punt returns by Lewis, including one for a touchdown, gave Los Angeles a decided edge.

Score by periods:

Los Angeles	7	10	7	7	—31
Detroit	0	9	10	0	—19

Holy Cross Bows To Marines, 17-0

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 18 (INS)—The Quantico Marines toppled Holy Cross from the ranks of the undefeated today when the Marines whitewashed the Crusaders, 17 to 0, before 20,000 football fans at Fitton Field.

John Petitbon, formerly of Notre Dame, was the outstanding star of the Marine eleven, made up of former ace college players.

In the opening period, Meyer Roberts, former Stanford star, put Quantico in front when he kicked a 21 yard field goal that was set up by a Holy Cross fumble.

In the third period, a 41-yard pass, John Fry to Robert Trout, both formerly of Baylor, set up the first TD. Petitbon then dashed 18 yards for the score.

Petitbon scored the final touchdown in the fourth quarter on a nine yard run that was set up on a series of passes and short runs from the Marines 41.

Score by periods:

Quantico Marines	3	0	7	7	—17

San Francisco Upends Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (INS)—The Chicago Bears stormed to three first period touchdowns today but then ran out of gas and were waylaid by the San Francisco 49ers, 35 to 28, in a National Football League game at Wrigley Field.

The 49ers, playing without the services of their ace passer, Y. A. Tittle, who was sidelined with injuries, operated mostly overground, with big Joe Perry doing an impressive job of ball carrying.

Perry scored three touchdowns—one on a 51-yard sprint down the middle of the field. Joe Arenas and Hugh McElhenny combined with Perry to rip Bear defenses for a touchdown in the first quarter, and four more in a one-sided second half which saw San Francisco assert almost complete dominance of play.

The Bears' hot first quarter saw Bill Wightkin, Billy Stone and Ed Sprinkle tally touchdowns, while they limited the 49ers to one score.

The Chicago club led, 21 to 7, at halftime. Then the Bears cooled off, while the 49ers piled up their winning touchdowns.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Garry Luse, 114-pound back, scored two touchdowns and gained most of his team's yardage as the York Boy's Club defeated Southwest Baltimore Midgets, 20-0 in the third annual Boys Bowl football game at Memorial Stadium today.

2-Year Pact Approved By ACC And Big Seven

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Champions of the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast Conferences—probably Oklahoma and Maryland—will meet in the Orange Bowl football game here next New Year's Day.

Negotiations for a two-year pact were completed in Kansas City today when faculty representatives of the Big Seven formally approved it. The Atlantic Coast group already had voted in favor of the tieup.

Orange Bowl President W. Bruce MacIntosh announced the Big Seven action in a long distance telephone call from Kansas City.

To Work Out Details

MacIntosh said there were some details still to be worked out, including whether the same teams will be allowed to play in the bowl two years in a row.

The newly-formed Atlantic Coast Conference will have no legitimate champion until 1956, when each team will be able to schedule all the others. The conference members will vote which team is best and entitled to go to the Orange Bowl.

Atlantic Coast members are Maryland, Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, Virginia, South Carolina and Clemson.

The Big Seven is composed of Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Kansas State and Iowa State.

MacIntosh said the Orange Bowl will guarantee each competing team a minimum of $110,000. Last year Alabama and Syracuse each took $104,000.

Three thousand seats are being added to the Orange Bowl to bring the seating capacity to approximately 70,000. The games are televised and broadcast nationally by CBS under a contract which will extend through the 1955 game.

Terps Have Chance

Oklahoma and Maryland are strong favorites to win supremacy in the two conferences this season and play the first game under the new pact.

If the same teams win the championship two years in a row and the conferences vote against sending teams to the Orange Bowl two years straight presumably the runners-up would make the trip the second year.

Baltimore Gives Up Territorial Rights

MONTREAL, Oct. 18 (INS)—The International League reached an agreement today with the newly-franchised Baltimore Orioles of the American League over territorial rights.

The Orioles agreed to pay the sum of $48,749.61 for giving up the Baltimore territory.

Man's Courtroom Proposal Rejected

A prosposal of marriage by a Westernport man, given by his attorney in Allegany County Circuit Court Saturday, was turned down by his common-law wife who declared, "He has to prove to me he can stop drinking before I will even think of taking him back."

On behalf of the couple's two teen-age children, Judge Morgan C. Harris and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher entered pleas for the man. The case finally ended with Judge Harris ordering the man to pay $15 a week support for his two children.

Purpose of the trial was to set support money for the two children after the man was indicted on two charges of paternity to which he pleaded guilty. Testimony revealed the couple had lived together as husband and wife since 1937. The court was told the man wanted to marry the woman to legitimatize the children.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If you have a hard-to-open bottle with a screw top, put your index or middle finger down on a flat surface, lay the side of the bottle top against it, strike the bottle top several times, gently, and in most cases you will be able to turn the screw top and open the bottle.

After washing your rubber gloves after doing a job of cleaning, dry them and sprinkle the inside and out with talcum powder to keep the surfaces from sticking together. Keep the gloves in a cool, dry place.

The Dead sea is dead because it contains a high percentage of salt water which makes it impossible for anything to live there.

With correct cosmetic application and hair styling, the diamond-shaped face takes on the illusion of an oval one.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Many of the beautiful-oval faces that get universal rave notices would look a lot less oval if you saw them sans cosmetics and with hair slicked back.

They say that beauty is in the beholder's eye. Certainly a lot of it is in the owner's eye! Unless a woman can see the potential beauty of her face, she'll never be as beautiful as she could be. When she views her face analytically and then uses all tricks in the book to make herself into the beauty she has every right to be, she is making the most of both modern cosmetics and principles of art.

Let's see how these can be put to work for you who have a diamond-shaped face — one that is broad in the cheek bones and reaches almost a point at the middle of the forehead and chin.

Cosmetic Correction

Cosmetically, the technique starts with three shades of foundation: One that matches the complexion, one that is definitely lighter and one that is definitely darker. Place a swipe of the lighter foundation across the top of the forehead in a circular line that dips down on both outer edges. Place a similar line across the lower tip of the jaw, curving upward on both outer edges. Now take the darkest foundation and, starting at the outer edge of the eyebrow, extend the cream straight down until it meets the under edge of the jaw line. In all of the intermediate area, smooth the foundation that matches the complexion. Blend the edges of all three foundations together with a feather touch. Pat powder on carefully — do not rub!

Tweeze the eyebrows so that they start low over the inner corner of the eye and rise gradually over the outer corner of the sockets. If you wear glasses, make sure that they are harlequin in type.

Hair Styling

In styling the hair, keep your crown smooth. Bangs can be effective in ovalizing your face if cut straight across or just deep enough to cover the hairline. Set them in one flat, pompadour type of wave that is diagonal, curled and then brushed into a fluff. Pull the hair sleek and straight back at the cheekbones. Let it be waved or brush-curled into moderate fullness behind the ears and on the neck.

In neckline, avoid V's and sharp corners. Do not let your pearls or necklaces dip more than is necessary. Neck hugging lines are best. Toward the same conformation lines, choose round and hoop-styled earrings.

Your hats also should tend toward rounded lines with soft crowns and undulating diagonal brims.

Design the impression you wish to make as an artist does! Your beauty is in your hands. Treat it with consideration and due respect.

Man's Courtroom Proposal Rejected

A prosposal of marriage by a Westernport man, given by his attorney in Allegany County Circuit Court Saturday, was turned down by his common-law wife who declared, "He has to prove to me he can stop drinking before I will even think of taking him back."

On behalf of the couple's two teen-age children, Judge Morgan C. Harris and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher entered pleas for the man. The case finally ended with Judge Harris ordering the man to pay $15 a week support for his two children.

Purpose of the trial was to set support money for the two children after the man was indicted on two charges of paternity to which he pleaded guilty. Testimony revealed the couple had lived together as husband and wife since 1937. The court was told the man wanted to marry the woman to legitimatize the children.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Detective Fiction With Character

The stories of George Simenon, one of the world's most prolific writers — and some think the world's greatest — are heard on radio somewhere around the world at the rate of two a day — in this country, Canada, and all over Europe. But Simenon, a Frenchman who lives now in Lakeville, Conn., has taken his time about getting into television.

John Crosby

For the past two years, 10 TV producers have tried to land the rights to Simenon's great French detective, Maigret. Of his hundreds of novels, 53, have been about Maigret who is something pretty special as far as TV audiences go. "Maigret is dealing with human problems which are the same everywhere in the world," Simenon explains. "The stories have been translated into 22 languages but they have exactly the same success in Spain as in France. I'm not trying to do a foreign story, but a story about people, so it should be good in television.

"The stories are not whodunits but phychological mysteries. You may know the solution at the beginning but you wonder how Maigret will work it out."

Maigret will be a new dish of tea—and a welcome one—from the ordinary private eye who infests television. He is a middle-aged heavy, quiet, pipe-smoking detective who has great sympathy for the tortured souls he encounters in his work. "He wants to mend men's souls," says Simenon. Maigret is married and never makes passes at other women.

Simenon bought a television set and watched it for two or three hours a day for three years before deciding what should be done with Maigret. Finally, he decided Maigret should be on film and the films should be shot in France. Three films are being shot in France now — operations began last week—and should be here December 1 when he will attempt to sell the series.

Simenon wants to get flavor and realism in his series but he does not want the "cheap, easy" French flavor. There won't be any little moustaches on the actors or "Monsieurs" and "Mercis" in the dialogue or shots of the Champs Elysee or the Eiffel Tower.

"It happens in Paris like it would happen on 52nd Street, he says. "People who watch television every night know all the plots before they're underway. You can't put a poisonous snake in a letterbox or anything like that anymore. People know all the tricks of the whodunits. Now you have to have characters. If you have the characters, you can have a birthday cake on the table and a discussion about it and everyone is happy." The Maigret series is strong on character and atmosphere, Simeon being a Balzac-type writer who can and has poured out characters by the hundreds.

There are, Simenon thinks, as many plots as there are combinations of people. Just think of the different combinations of men and women there are, he'll tell you. Take a commuter-type male and a Greenwich Village type male reacting to the same women and you have two different stories.

"Of course," he adds, "TV does not have the right to touch on the more important problems of life because of censorship." Simenon thinks that the answer to the censorship problem might be to loosen up a little between 8 and 10 p. m. and perhaps a little more after 10 when the kiddies are safely in bed. They're doing something like that now, he thinks. "Even the dancers get sexier late at night. In the afternoon — Kate Smith."

Out of the 42 movies that have been made of his stories, Simenon has seen only six and those reluctantly. But he's looking forward to seeing Maigret on television because the medium fascinates him. Eventually, though he's still turning out novels at the rate of 10 a year (including two Maigrets for Maigret's insatiable audience), he'd like to do original plays for television.

The Snow Baby was the name given to Admiral Peary's daughter, Maria, who was born in the Arctic circle.

A MATTER OF COURTESY

IT IS A matter of courtesy, as well as a winning factor, to know in advance most of the frequently recurring combinations of cards in a suit and the best ways to play them. Ability to recognize such a combination, coupled with knowing the best way to seek all the tricks in the suit—or all but one, or all but two perhaps — saves the other fellow's time and thereby makes the game more enjoyable for all. If you do not recognize such a combination, you must choose sometimes between using an inordinate number of minutes to figure it out, or else take a chance of playing it incorrectly at expense to yourself and your partner.

	♠ A Q J 6 ♥ 10 9 8 3 ♦ Q 6 3 2 ♣ J
♠ K 9 7 5 2 ♥ A K Q 6 ♦ None ♣ 9 7 5 4	N W E S	♠ 10 4 3 ♥ J 7 5 ♦ J 10 8 5 ♣ 8 3 2
	♠ 8 ♥ 4 2 ♦ A K 9 7 4 ♣ A K Q 10 6

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
2 ♥	3 ♦	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	5 ♦

As it happened, if North had tried a 3-No Trump bid, nothing but a heart lead could have kept him from taking overtricks, and even that would have left him with a made contract. That, however, may be rated as a pretty hard bid to make after hearing South's 4-Clubs, as nobody has yet discovered any legal way to move from the four level down to three.

Against the 5-Diamonds, West scored two heart tricks and South ruffed the third round, then noted that his contract was airtight if the spade finesse would work, unless he lost a trump trick.

Embarking on the trump suit, he recalled having read somewhere that, if you can take the first three tricks with top cards, you should win the first in the hand containing two of the three honors. He therefore laid down the diamond A and was shocked when West discarded a spade. Now, he realized, he had to lose a trick to East's holding.

Explaining his mistaken play, he said he didn't want to waste the time of all the others by studying the combination. Next time, let us hope, he will know that, with this kind of lineup, he can guard himself against four trumps with East, but not against four in the West. He, indeed, should have known that in advance. Do you, now?

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

If you had made an insufficient bid of 1-Diamond in the East on this tournament deal, after West's 1-Spade, what bid would you make in correcting the insufficiency?

Detective Fiction With Character

The stories of George Simenon, one of the world's most prolific writers — and some think the world's greatest — are heard on radio somewhere around the world at the rate of two a day — in this country, Canada, and all over Europe. But Simenon, a Frenchman who lives now in Lakeville, Conn., has taken his time about getting into television.

John Crosby

For the past two years, 10 TV producers have tried to land the rights to Simenon's great French detective, Maigret. Of his hundreds of novels, 53, have been about Maigret who is something pretty special as far as TV audiences go. "Maigret is dealing with human problems which are the same everywhere in the world," Simenon explains. "The stories have been translated into 22 languages but they have exactly the same success in Spain as in France. I'm not trying to do a foreign story, but a story about people, so it should be good in television.

"The stories are not whodunits but phychological mysteries. You may know the solution at the beginning but you wonder how Maigret will work it out."

Maigret will be a new dish of tea —and a welcome one—from the ordinary private eye who infests television. He is a middle-aged heavy, quiet, pipe-smoking detective who has great sympathy for the tortured souls he encounters in his work. "He wants to mend men's souls," says Simenon. Maigret is married and never makes passes at other women.

Simenon bought a television set and watched it for two or three hours a day for three years before deciding what should be done with Maigret. Finally, he decided Maigret should be on film and the films should be shot in France. Three films are being shot in France now — operations began last week—and should be here December 1 when he will attempt to sell the series.

Simenon wants to get flavor and realism in his series but he does not want the "cheap, easy" French flavor. There won't be any little moustaches on the actors or "Monsieurs" and "Mercis" in the dialogue or shots of the Champs Elysee or the Eiffel Tower.

"It happens in Paris like it would happen on 52nd Street, he says. "People who watch television every night know all the plots before they're underway. You can't put a poisonous snake in a letterbox or anything like that anymore. People know all the tricks of the whodunits. Now you have to have characters. If you have the characters, you can have a birthday cake on the table and a discussion about it and everyone is happy." The Maigret series is strong on character and atmosphere, Simeon being a Balzac-type writer who can and has poured out characters by the hundreds.

There are, Simenon thinks, as many plots as there are combinations of people. Just think of the different combinations of men and women there are, he'll tell you. Take a commuter-type male and a Greenwich Village type male reacting to the same women and you have two different stories.

"Of course," he adds, "TV does not have the right to touch on the more important problems of life because of censorship." Simenon thinks that the answer to the censorship problem might be to loosen up a little between 8 and 10 p. m. and perhaps a little more after 10 when the kiddies are safely in bed. They're doing something like that now, he thinks. "Even the dancers get sexier late at night. In the afternoon — Kate Smith."

Out of the 42 movies that have been made of his stories, Simenon has seen only six and those reluctantly. But he's looking forward to seeing Maigret on television because the medium fascinates him. Eventually, though he's still turning out novels at the rate of 10 a year (including two Maigrets for Maigret's insatiable audience), he'd like to do original plays for television.

A MATTER OF COURTESY

IT IS A matter of courtesy, as well as a winning factor, to know in advance most of the frequently recurring combinations of cards in a suit and the best ways to play them. Ability to recognize such a combination, coupled with knowing the best way to seek all the tricks in the suit--or all but one, or all but two perhaps — saves the other fellow's time and thereby makes the game more enjoyable for all. If you do not recognize such a combination, you must choose sometimes between using an inordinate number of minutes to figure it out, or else take a chance of playing it incorrectly at expense to yourself and your partner.

	♠ A Q J 6 ♥ 10 9 8 3 ♦ Q 6 3 2 ♣ J
♠ K 9 7 5 2 ♥ A K Q 6 ♦ None ♣ 9 7 5 4	N W E S	♠ 10 4 3 ♥ J 7 5 ♦ J 10 8 5 ♣ 8 3 2
	♠ 8 ♥ 4 2 ♦ A K 9 7 4 ♣ A K Q 10 6

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	2 ♦
2 ♥	3 ♦	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	5 ♦

As it happened, if North had tried a 3-No Trump bid, nothing but a heart lead could have kept him from taking overtricks, and even that would have left him with a made contract. That, however, may be rated as a pretty hard bid to make after hearing South's 4-Clubs, as nobody has yet discovered any legal way to move from the four level down to three.

Against the 5-Diamonds, West scored two heart tricks and South ruffed the third round, then noted that his contract was airtight if the spade finesse would work, unless he lost a trump trick.

Embarking on the trump suit, he recalled having read somewhere that, if you can take the first three tricks with top cards, you should win the first in the hand containing two of the three honors. He therefore laid down the diamond A and was shocked when West discarded a spade. Now, he realized, he had to lose a trick to East's holding.

Explaining his mistaken play, he said he didn't want to waste the time of all the others by studying the combination. Next time, let us hope, he will know that, with this kind of lineup, he can guard himself against four trumps with East, but not against four in the West. He, indeed, should have known that in advance. Do you, now?

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A 6 5 ♥ 8 2 ♦ 10 9 6 3 2 ♣ 10 8 6
♠ K Q 10 4 2 ♥ A Q J 6 3 ♦ A ♣ 9 2	N W E S	♠ 9 8 ♥ 9 7 5 4 ♦ J 8 7 4 ♣ K Q J
	♠ J 7 3 ♥ K 10 ♦ K Q 5 ♣ A 7 5 4 3

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

If you had made an insufficient bid of 1-Diamond in the East on this tournament deal, after West's 1-Spade, what bid would you make in correcting the insufficiency?

In Memoriam

In memory of my Father, David Short, who was killed seven years ago today while serving in Germany, October 19, 1946.

Seven years have passed
Since my Daddy went away
I miss him more and more
And my love grows every day.
My memory of him still
Is love and care he gave
And shall remain with me
Forever and ever more.

Sadly missed by
His daughter, Barbara Ann Short

In loving memory of our darling son and brother, Pfc. David M. Short, who was killed in Germany on Oct. 19, 1946.

Seven sad and lonely years today have passed
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that night
Some have forgotten but not us.
On a hill stands a flag for our love that we miss;
The grass died but the love in our hearts never will
Some day our time will come for the Lord to take us
It will be happy days for all of us.

Sadly missed by,
Mother, Father, Sister and Brothers

In Memoriam

In memory of my Father, David Short, who was killed seven years ago today while serving in Germany, October 19, 1946.

Seven years have passed
Since my Daddy went away
I miss him more and more
And my love grows every day.
My memory of him still
Is love and care he gave
And shall remain with me
Forever and ever more.

Sadly missed by
His daughter, Barbara Ann Short

In loving memory of our darling son and brother, Pfc. David M. Short, who was killed in Germany on Oct. 19, 1946.

Seven sad and lonely years today have passed
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that night
Some have forgotten but not us.
On a hill stands a flag for our love that we miss;
The grass died but the love in our hearts never will
Some day our time will come for the Lord to take us
It will be happy days for all of us.

Sadly missed by,
Mother, Father, Sister and Brothers

Kelly Opens Three-Day Sales Conference Here

Over 100 Representatives At Sessions

The Kelly Springfield Tire Company, preparing for its 60th anniversary with an expanded sales promotion plan and increased production in 1954, opened a three-day sales conference here today.

More than 100 Kelly salesmen and district sales managers from all parts of the United States are participating in the meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Club. The conference was scheduled to begin this morning at 8:30 o'clock and will continue all day today with another session tomorrow.

On Wednesday, the visitors will tour the Kelly plant and complete their sales program.

Schedule Outlined

The visitors, some of whom are in Cumberland for the first time, began arriving late Saturday. On Sunday afternoon about half the contingent had registered at local hotels and by late last night practically the entire sales force was here.

A well planned and continuing schedule has been worked out for the visitors. Breakfast at Anton's this morning starts the day, after which special buses will take the men to the Shrine Club. The welcome address and opening phases of the program are scheduled for 8:30, with special presentations, talks and information sessions throughout the day.

Lunch and dinner will be served at the club, with a short question session scheduled for tonight, followed by a brief period of entertainment. Buses will return the men to their hotels at 9:30 p. m.

Tomorrow, a similar schedule has been worked out with plans for sales films, and additional sales, distribution and production information on the agenda.

Will Tour Local Plant

City's Credit Rating Upped By 5 Per Cent Rule

Total Indebtedness Hits $6,832,000 Mark

The policy of the City of Cumberland to keep its general bonded indebtedness below five per cent of assessed real estate valuations has kept the city's credit rating high and enabled it to sell its bonds at low interest rates.

Adherence to the rule has allowed the city to sell to firms and individuals interested chiefly in security, and to banking institutions limited in purchases of this type security to cities having the five per cent limitation at rates ranging from one to 2¾ per cent since 1940.

The five per cent rule has been advocated for a number of years by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, and has been supported by every administration.

Here is the current picture on the general indebtedness of the city:

As of today, the general bonded indebtedness totals $3,327,000.

Issues Are Authorized

Another $500,000 is to be added soon. This includes a $350,000 issue for traffic projects which include the Frederick Street improvement project, and a $150,000 recreation bond issue authorized in a 1947 referendum.

This will bring the total to $3,827,000. There are also $77,000 of short term notes secured by sewer and paving liens.

All told, this brings the general debt to the $3,904,000 mark. From this is to be subtracted $1,221,745.66 which is on deposit in a sinking fund to pay term bonds, making the current net indebtedness $2,683,264.34.

Had city officials burdened taxpayers with the legal limit of 10 per cent of all real and personal property assessments, the general debt could have gone to the $7,500,000 mark this year, based on $51,600,000 of real estate assessments and $19,900,000 of personal property.

Assessments Could Drop

The trouble, Gibson points out, is that personal property assessments could drop sharply during periods of economic recession, leaving the owners of real estate holding the bag.

Added to the general bonded indebtedness are water bonds which now total $3,505,000.

This brings the total bonded indebtedness to the $6,832,000 mark, according to the annual audit.

Under the terms on which water department bonds are sold, these are also tops in the investment market.

They are revenue bonds and all revenues of the water department are pledged to retire the obligations.

Thy also bear the full faith and credit of the City of Cumberland, which is obligated to levy for any deficit which might occur under present water rates, and then increase fees to the point where revenues are sufficient to meet operating costs and debt service.

Toll Bridge Use Shows Increase

All three of Maryland's toll bridges continue to show heavy and increasing traffic, according to the Traffic Division of the State Roads Commission.

So far this year, both the Susquehanna and the Potomac River Bridges have shown an increase in use each month over the corresponding months of previous years. The Chesapeake Bay Bridge, opened July 30, 1952, has not been in use long enough for such comparison, but the average daily traffic has been running about double the traffic carried by the old ferry boats, now discontinued.

In August, the Susquehanna Bridge carried a volume of 884,666 vehicles, a three per cent increase over the same month last year which was 11 per cent greater than the corresponding month of 1951.

The Potomac River Bridge, for August, carried 200,175 vehicles, a jump of 12 per cent over August, 1952, which carried a 35 per cent heavier traffic load than August, 1951.

For the months of August 1950 and 1951, the Chesapeake Bay Ferries carried a daily average traffic of 3,511 and 4,050 vehicles respectively, whereas for August, 1952, the first month the new bridge opened, the daily traffic use was more than double, running to a count of 8,912.

Teachers Favor State Aid For School Building

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Maryland public school teachers have gone on record in favor of more state aid for new school buildings, higher pay for county education superintendents, increased pensions for retired teachers and inclusion of school employes in workmen's compensation laws.

The program was approved at the annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers Assn., which attracted about 13,000 teachers before adjourning yesterday.

The 371 members of the association's Representative Assembly turned down only one proposal submitted by various committees. This would have established a system of life memberships in the organization.

In a closing-day speech to the teachers, foreign correspondent Eddy Gilmore said the current Trieste crisis might result in healing of the rift between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union.

Gilmore, Pulitzer Prize winner who returned July 1 after covering Russia for 12 years for The Associated Press, also said he believes Premier Malenkov's position at the head of the Soviet government is weak and the Russian is "blugging, stalling for time."

The association installed Miss Sarah L. Leiter of Suitland as its new president to succeed Francis L. Holsinger of Easton.

County Savings Bond Sales Show Hike Over 1952

Reach $43,120,777 In First 9 Months

Lynn C. Lashley, Allegany County savings bonds chairman, stated that "as we turn into the final quarter of the year, sales of E and H bonds for Maryland — January through September — of $43,120,777 compare with sales of $33,364,168 for the same period of 1952. Sales are up approximately 30 per cent for the first three quarters."

Lashley also said that the Maryland office is pleased to announce that more than 10,000 new savers have been added to the systematic payroll savings plans for the purchase of bonds in Maryland, as a result of one of the most successful payroll savings campaigns since the close of World War II.

Allegany County E and H sales through September of $1,868,372 placed this county in eighth place, with 64.4 per cent achieved in reaching the county's 1953 quota of $2,900,000.

Harford County leads with 81 per cent accomplishment and Washington County is second with 79.4 per cent; Baltimore City is third with 70.6 per cent; Cecil, fourth, with 70.2 per cent, and Worcester, fifth, with 68.4 per cent.

He said company officials wished to incorporate the new designs in the pumper which was ordered by Cumberland.

The new South Cumberland Fire Company truck is a 750 gallon triple combination pumper which includes a pump with a capacity of 750 gallons a minute, a booster tank and ladder equipment.

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bowling Green, by the pastor, Rev. C. Lloyd Voll. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

The United Nations And World Order

By REV. C. LLOYD VOLL

Today is World Order Sunday, the Sunday preceding October 24, anniversary of the United Nations Charter. That the United Nations should receive the full support of Christian people is obvious, for in the final analysis the United Nations is based on a faith which states, "There is, in the very nature of things an underlying moral unity which can serve to bind together the nations of the world in a common effort for peace, freedom and universal welfare."

Rev. Voll

Those who are ready to scrap the United Nations, and go it alone as a nation, fail to recognize the basic Christian belief that God creates us in community — not in isolation! Our relationship is that of the family. Christians must be as eager to wage peace as the enemies of our faith are eager to wage war. To wage that peace we must have an organ that will unite us in our common purpose. That organ is the United Nations. In our prayers and thinking about the work and goal of the United Nations there are several things we must remember:

That the basic cause of war can always be traced back to evil in the human heart, considered both individually and collectively. We protest that we, personally, have little or nothing to do with causing war or establishing peace. In reality it is the prejudice, hatred, ill-will, selfishness in my heart and yours — of men and women throughout the world — which taken together snowball us toward the edge of disaster! The task of the church, to continually call men to repentance, goes hand in hand with the work of the United Nations in its efforts to establish peace.

That ideals such as are expressed in the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights are always in danger of degenerating into "nice sentiment." However fine brotherhood sounds on paper it means nothing until it comes alive in the flesh and blood relationships of personal living.

That the criticism that the United Nations has not used more physical force in the establishment of justice and peace is made without considering that the Western world already jeopardizes its moral authority and leadership by its tendency to rely on physical force alone. Increasingly we have come to trust in atomic stockpiles. Nobody denies our need to attain enough military power to repel aggression, but we tend to forget that the moral authority of the Western world is grounded on our faith in authentic democracy, in the extension of human rights to all the children of God, in our confidence that there is a God who still guides the processes of history. We best demonstrate that faith when we help the peoples of the world to attain an equitable social, economic and political status, so that the false but alluring promises of communism no longer appeal to them. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord."

That the building of the free world is a long-term process. It is a marathon — not a sprint! All of us would like to wake up tomorrow morning and find that war had been forever abolished from the world. But wishing won't make it so! Religious people have always taken the long view of things. We have need of endurance for the goal of a free world cannot be attained today — or tomorrow. But there is every reason to believe that future generations will call us blessed if with our prayers and our lives we support the long range program of the United Nations.

Pennsylvania Woman Injured In Auto Mishap

A Point Marion, Pa. woman was hospitalized yesterday evening suffering injuries sustained in an auto mishap on Route 40 near Nave's Crossroad.

Mrs. Porter was admitted at 5 p. m. for observation and X-rays. Her condition last night was reported as "good."

Driver of the vehicle which turned over on the highway was a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ella Marie Porter, of Gans, Pa. State Police said the accident occurred when the driver, headed toward Cumberland, attempted to pass an unidentified car.

As she attempted to pass, the other car pulled out into the passing lane forcing her from the highway. The Porter auto apparently got out of control, hit a bank on the left side of the highway, turned over and landed on its top in the east lane.

Mrs. Porter was taken to the hospital in the George Funeral Home ambulance. Investigating the accident is Trooper J. F. Lewis.

Club Approves Trout Season, Fishing Area

Two proposals were approved at a meeting of the Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club recently in Westernport.

One was that the trout season be closed on June 30, with the exception of ponds and lakes, the full season of which is from April 15 to September 15.

The second proposal acted on favorably, was the setting aside of a fishing area on Savage River for women and children. It would extend from the iron bridge on Savage River at Bloomington to the Savage River Community Church.

These recommendations will be presented at the meeting of the Game Commission by a representative of the club to be held at Hagerstown Friday.

The club discussed the closing of their dog training area and rifle range to the public but no action was taken.

Four Virginia Youths Held For Kidnapping

Hagerstown Girl Escapes Captors

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 18 (AP) — Four Virginia youths were charged with kidnapping today after the abduction of a 20-year-old Hagerstown girl who escaped unharmed except for scratches and bruises.

The FBI in Baltimore identified the four, held in the Washington County Jail at Hagerstown as Daniel Davis Walters, 20, of Purcellville, Va.; Earl Leon Tomblin, 20 and Marion Francis Hough, 21, both of Round Hill, Va., and a 15-year-old juvenile from Purcellville.

Violate Federal Law

S. S. Alden, agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said the four were apprehended late last night and early today after Marie Celina Jolliffe, of Hagerstown, contacted Virginia State Police at Round Hill.

The four were charged with violating the federal kidnapping law under a complaint filed by George C. Doub, U.S. attorney, in Baltimore.

Alden said the youths will be arraigned in Hagerstown tomorrow morning before U.S. Commissioner C. Wells Little.

Miss Jolliffe told police she was riding with two Hagerstown youths, James Barthlow and Glen Wise, both about 21, when their car was stopped somewhere between Hagerstown and Martinsburg, W.Va., early yesterday.

She said a car containing four young men blocked the road. Barthlow and Wise said they battled the four but the abductors overpowered her escorts and forced her into their car.

Overpower Escorts

Miss Jolliffe said she was blindfolded and one of the youths kept his hand over her mouth.

She estimated her abductors drove about 50 miles. Two of the four, she said, got out of the car before she made her escape, when the car stopped a second time. She said the two young men still in the car made no effort to stop her.

She said she found her way to Virginia State Trooper R.R. Howard at Round Hill about 5:30 a.m. He notified Hagerstown authorities who, in turn, called the FBI. Miss Jolliffe was returned to Hagerstown.

The girl said the four young men had been at a Martinsburg night club which she and her two escorts also visited. The four kept insisting on dancing with her. She said the four had been drinking heavily.

Four Arrested

Alden said Walters was picked up at Knoxville, Md., at 10:30 last night by FBI agents and Lts. Harold Kiser and Grayson Wigfield of the Hagerstown police. Tomblin was arrested at his home in Round Hill by the FBI and Virginia Trooper Roy F. Smith. Hough also was arrested at his Round Hill home by the FBI, Loudoun County Sheriff Roger F. Powell and two deputies, and the juvenile was arrested at his home near Purcellville by FBI agents.

All four were taken on warrants issued by Commissioner Little, after conferences between Hagerstown police, Doub and the FBI.

14 Practices Proposed For Farm Program

Sent To PMA Group For Study, Approval

Some 14 practices have been recommended by the Allegany County Conservation Resources Committee for inclusion in the 1954 Agricultural Conservation Program here.

The proposals now go to the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee for its approval. Then the County PMA will prepare a handbook of the practices, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the PMA office.

First of the favored practices provides for limited use of liming materials. This practice is called initial treatment of cropland with liming material for the development of grasses. Farmers who might be interested are urged to have their soil tested now, for such a test is necessary for approval of the use of lime.

Among other endorsed conservation measures are contour strip cropping, forest tree planting, establishment of permanent pasture, subsoiling, improvement of forest stands, establishment of sod waterways, diversion ditches, establishment of orchards on contours, open drainage ditches, installing tile drainage ditches, cover crops such as crimson clover, vetch and annual rye grass; initial establishment of permanent vegetation to prevent erosion and fencing of woodlands to prevent grazing.

Members of the PMA Committee, Albert O'Neal, James H. Weimer and Joseph W. Silber, and Miss Hoover will meet with other Western Maryland PMA representatives in Frederick next Friday to learn some of the details necessary in administering these practices.

For one thing the committee knows that it will have much less money than the $28,292 that was available this year for assistance in these practices. It has been estimated that only about two-thirds of that amount will be available next year.

Members of the Conservation Resources Committee who developed the recommendations Thursday included Kenneth M. Stone, Martin M. Gordon and E. Stuart Delbrook of the Soil Conservation Service; Assistant District Forester Harry Hartman, County Agent R. F. McHenry, Wilbert Paul, member of the Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors; the three PMA members, Miss Hoover and Richard Carson, field representative of the State PMA Committee.

A plant spokesman said last night that this is the largest and most carefully planned sales conference ever held by Kelly.

City's Credit Rating Upped By 5 Per Cent Rule

Total Indebtedness Hits $6,832,000 Mark

The policy of the City of Cumberland to keep its general bonded indebtedness below five per cent of assessed real estate valuations has kept the city's credit rating high and enabled it to sell its bonds at low interest rates.

Adherence to the rule has allowed the city to sell to firms and individuals interested chiefly in security, and to banking institutions limited in purchases of this type security to cities having the five per cent limitation at rates ranging from one to 2¾ per cent since 1940.

The five per cent rule has been advocated for a number of years by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, and has been supported by every administration.

Here is the current picture on the general indebtedness of the city:

As of today, the general bonded indebtedness totals $3,327,000.

Issues Are Authorized

Another $500,000 is to be added soon. This includes a $350,000 issue for traffic projects which include the Frederick Street improvement project, and a $150,000 recreation bond issue authorized in a 1947 referendum.

This will bring the total to $3,827,000. There are also $77,000 of short term notes secured by sewer and paving liens.

All told, this brings the general debt to the $3,904,000 mark. From this is to be subtracted $1,221,745.66 which is on deposit in a sinking fund to pay term bonds, making the current net indebtedness $2,683,264.34.

Had city officials burdened taxpayers with the legal limit of 10 per cent of all real and personal property assessments, the general debt could have gone to the $7,500,000 mark this year, based on $51,600,000 of real estate assessments and $19,900,000 of personal property.

Assessments Could Drop

The trouble, Gibson points out, is that personal property assessments could drop sharply during periods of economic recession, leaving the owners of real estate holding the bag.

Added to the general bonded indebtedness are water bonds which now total $3,505,000.

This brings the total bonded indebtedness to the $6,832,000 mark, according to the annual audit.

Under the terms on which water department bonds are sold, these are also tops in the investment market.

They are revenue bonds and all revenues of the water department are pledged to retire the obligations.

Thy also bear the full faith and credit of the City of Cumberland, which is obligated to levy for any deficit which might occur under present water rates, and then increase fees to the point where revenues are sufficient to meet operating costs and debt service.

Toll Bridge Use Shows Increase

All three of Maryland's toll bridges continue to show heavy and increasing traffic, according to the Traffic Division of the State Roads Commission.

So far this year, both the Susquehanna and the Potomac River Bridges have shown an increase in use each month over the corresponding months of previous years. The Chesapeake Bay Bridge, opened July 30, 1952, has not been in use long enough for such comparison, but the average daily traffic has been running about double the traffic carried by the old ferry boats, now discontinued.

In August, the Susquehanna Bridge carried a volume of 884,666 vehicles, a three per cent increase over the same month last year which was 11 per cent greater than the corresponding month of 1951.

The Potomac River Bridge, for August, carried 200,175 vehicles, a jump of 12 per cent over August, 1952, which carried a 35 per cent heavier traffic load than August, 1951.

For the months of August 1950 and 1951, the Chesapeake Bay Ferries carried a daily average traffic of 3,511 and 4,050 vehicles respectively, whereas for August, 1952, the first month the new bridge opened, the daily traffic use was more than double, running to a count of 8,912.

Teachers Favor State Aid For School Building

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Maryland public school teachers have gone on record in favor of more state aid for new school buildings, higher pay for county education superintendents, increased pensions for retired teachers and inclusion of school employes in workmen's compensation laws.

The program was approved at the annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers Assn., which attracted about 13,000 teachers before adjourning yesterday.

The 371 members of the association's Representative Assembly turned down only one proposal submitted by various committees. This would have established a system of life memberships in the organization.

In a closing-day speech to the teachers, foreign correspondent Eddy Gilmore said the current Trieste crisis might result in healing of the rift between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union.

Gilmore, Pulitzer Prize winner who returned July 1 after covering Russia for 12 years for The Associated Press, also said he believes Premier Malenkov's position at the head of the Soviet government is weak and the Russian is "blugging, stalling for time."

The association installed Miss Sarah L. Leiter of Suitland as its new president to succeed Francis L. Holsinger of Easton.

Today's Sermonette

The United Nations And World Order

By REV. C. LLOYD VOLL

Today is World Order Sunday, the Sunday preceding October 24, anniversary of the United Nations Charter. That the United Nations should receive the full support of Christian people is obvious, for in the final analysis the United Nations is based on a faith which states, "There is, in the very nature of things an underlying moral unity which can serve to bind together the nations of the world in a common effort for peace, freedom and universal welfare."

Rev. Voll

Those who are ready to scrap the United Nations, and go it alone as a nation, fail to recognize the basic Christian belief that God creates us in community — not in isolation! Our relationship is that of the family. Christians must be as eager to wage peace as the enemies of our faith are eager to wage war. To wage that peace we must have an organ that will unite us in our common purpose. That organ is the United Nations. In our prayers and thinking about the work and goal of the United Nations there are several things we must remember:

That the basic cause of war can always be traced back to evil in the human heart, considered both individually and collectively. We protest that we, personally, have little or nothing to do with causing war or establishing peace. In reality it is the prejudice, hatred, ill-will, selfishness in my heart and yours — of men and women throughout the world — which taken together snowball us toward the edge of disaster! The task of the church, to continually call men to repentance, goes hand in hand with the work of the United Nations in its efforts to establish peace.

That ideals such as are expressed in the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights are always in danger of degenerating into "nice sentiment." However fine brotherhood sounds on paper it means nothing until it comes alive in the flesh and blood relationships of personal living.

That the criticism that the United Nations has not used more physical force in the establishment of justice and peace is made without considering that the Western world already jeopardizes its moral authority and leadership by its tendency to rely on physical force alone. Increasingly we have come to trust in atomic stockpiles. Nobody denies our need to attain enough military power to repel aggression, but we tend to forget that the moral authority of the Western world is grounded on our faith in authentic democracy, in the extension of human rights to all the children of God, in our confidence that there is a God who still guides the processes of history. We best demonstrate that faith when we help the peoples of the world to attain an equitable social, economic and political status, so that the false but alluring promises of communism no longer appeal to them. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord."

That the building of the free world is a long-term process. It is a marathon — not a sprint! All of us would like to wake up tomorrow morning and find that war had been forever abolished from the world. But wishing won't make it so! Religious people have always taken the long view of things. We have need of endurance for the goal of a free world cannot be attained today — or tomorrow. But there is every reason to believe that future generations will call us blessed if with our prayers and our lives we support the long range program of the United Nations.

Four Virginia Youths Held For Kidnapping

Hagerstown Girl Escapes Captors

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 18 (AP) — Four Virginia youths were charged with kidnapping today after the abduction of a 20-year-old Hagerstown girl who escaped unharmed except for scratches and bruises.

The FBI in Baltimore identified the four, held in the Washington County Jail at Hagerstown as Daniel Davis Walters, 20, of Purcellville, Va.; Earl Leon Tomblin, 20 and Marion Francis Hough, 21, both of Round Hill, Va., and a 15-year-old juvenile from Purcellville.

Violate Federal Law

S. S. Alden, agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said the four were apprehended late last night and early today after Marie Celina Jolliffe, of Hagerstown, contacted Virginia State Police at Round Hill.

The four were charged with violating the federal kidnapping law under a complaint filed by George C. Doub, U.S. attorney, in Baltimore.

Alden said the youths will be arraigned in Hagerstown tomorrow morning before U.S. Commissioner C. Wells Little.

Miss Jolliffe told police she was riding with two Hagerstown youths, James Barthlow and Glen Wise, both about 21, when their car was stopped somewhere between Hagerstown and Martinsburg, W.Va., early yesterday.

She said a car containing four young men blocked the road. Barthlow and Wise said they battled the four but the abductors overpowered her escorts and forced her into their car.

Overpower Escorts

Miss Jolliffe said she was blindfolded and one of the youths kept his hand over her mouth.

She estimated her abductors drove about 50 miles. Two of the four, she said, got out of the car before she made her escape, when the car stopped a second time. She said the two young men still in the car made no effort to stop her.

She said she found her way to Virginia State Trooper R.R. Howard at Round Hill about 5:30 a.m. He notified Hagerstown authorities who, in turn, called the FBI. Miss Jolliffe was returned to Hagerstown.

The girl said the four young men had been at a Martinsburg night club which she and her two escorts also visited. The four kept insisting on dancing with her. She said the four had been drinking heavily.

Four Arrested

Alden said Walters was picked up at Knoxville, Md., at 10:30 last night by FBI agents and Lts. Harold Kiser and Grayson Wigfield of the Hagerstown police. Tomblin was arrested at his home in Round Hill by the FBI and Virginia Trooper Roy F. Smith. Hough also was arrested at his Round Hill home by the FBI, Loudoun County Sheriff Roger F. Powell and two deputies, and the juvenile was arrested at his home near Purcellville by FBI agents.

All four were taken on warrants issued by Commissioner Little, after conferences between Hagerstown police, Doub and the FBI.

Sent To PMA Group For Study, Approval

Some 14 practices have been recommended by the Allegany County Conservation Resources Committee for inclusion in the 1954 Agricultural Conservation Program here.

The proposals now go to the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee for its approval. Then the County PMA will prepare a handbook of the practices, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the PMA office.

First of the favored practices provides for limited use of liming materials. This practice is called initial treatment of cropland with liming material for the development of grasses. Farmers who might be interested are urged to have their soil tested now, for such a test is necessary for approval of the use of lime.

Among other endorsed conservation measures are contour strip cropping, forest tree planting, establishment of permanent pasture, subsoiling, improvement of forest stands, establishment of sod waterways, diversion ditches, establishment of orchards on contours, open drainage ditches, installing tile drainage ditches, cover crops such as crimson clover, vetch and annual rye grass; initial establishment of permanent vegetation to prevent erosion and fencing of woodlands to prevent grazing.

Members of the PMA Committee, Albert O'Neal, James H. Weimer and Joseph W. Silber, and Miss Hoover will meet with other Western Maryland PMA representatives in Frederick next Friday to learn some of the details necessary in administering these practices.

For one thing the committee knows that it will have much less money than the $28,292 that was available this year for assistance in these practices. It has been estimated that only about two-thirds of that amount will be available next year.

Members of the Conservation Resources Committee who developed the recommendations Thursday included Kenneth M. Stone, Martin M. Gordon and E. Stuart Delbrook of the Soil Conservation Service; Assistant District Forester Harry Hartman, County Agent R. F. McHenry, Wilbert Paul, member of the Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors; the three PMA members, Miss Hoover and Richard Carson, field representative of the State PMA Committee.
